SOX WIN FIRST, 4-0, 3 HITS OFF DICKMAN

Sunshine for Sox—First bright day in ages finds Cleveland Indians getting the works at hands of Red Sox today. Photo shows Pitcher Dickman covering the bag to eliminate Outfielder Heath.

FENWAY PARK, July 25—The Red Sox climbed to within half a game of second place by defeating the Cleveland Indians in the opening tilt of the doubleheader here this afternoon.

Close to 40,000 fans saw Pinky Higgins score the first run of the game when he doubled after two were out in the second inning to score on Bobby Doerr's single.

The Sox added two more tallies in the fifth on a walk, Higgins' second hit and an error by Ken Keltner, Indians' rookie third-baseman.

In the sixth stanza, Jimmy Foxx registered his 27th home run of the season with a long drive that landed in the centerfield bleachers. A single and walk followed the blow, but here Johnny Allen tightened up to retire Doerr and Desautels on fly-outs.

Assassin Fires At Gov. Winship In Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (By Telephone to New York) July 25 (AP)—Major-General Blanton Winship, Governor of Puerto Rico, escaped an assassin's bullet at Ponce today while he was reviewing a parade.

Preliminary telephone reports to the governor's palace here said neither Governor Winship nor any member of his party was injured.

Police immediately returned the fire from among large crowd watching celebrations of the 40th anniversary of the landing of American troops in the Spanish-American war.

At least two persons were killed and 20 injured. The police killed one man, believed to have been one of the party that started the firing.

Lieutenant-Colonel Irizarry of the Puerto Rico National Guard was wounded fatally.

Palace officials said arrests had been made but they had not yet been informed how many.

They said the first shot was be-

Realizing Cuts Gain in Stocks

NEW YORK, July 25 (INS)—The stock market soared $1 to $3 a share to new highs in forenoon trading today, but late profit-taking substantially reduced top gains.

Trading was at a heavy pace in the morning but volume contracted sharply in the afternoon recession.

John and Anne Reach Bermuda

Their journey from Campobello, N. B., to Bermuda was pleasant, young Roosevelt said, and neither he nor his wife suffered seasickness. They plan to return home aboard the steamer Lady Drake August 12.

FOUND DEAD IN CAR

Seated in his car, which was not registered this year and which still bore 1937 plates, Conselato Ofria, 65, Revere widower and barber, was found dead today in a garage across from his home in Hall street.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25 (AP)—The President's newest grandson will be named Franklin Delano Roosevelt, III. The baby's dad, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr., made that official announcement today.

2 POSTMASTERS NAMED

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Acting Postmaster-General W. W. Howes today announced appointment of Patrick Dolan acting postmaster at Hopkinton, Mass., and Frank E. Nudd acting postmaster at Island Creek, Mass.

Texas Vote Routs Deal

DALLAS, July 25 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, 46, a novice politician, who made a shambles of Texas political precedent, today assured his public he would be a "regular fellow" as governor and scoffed at the possibility of a dictatorship.

Mired indirectly in the O'Daniel landslide were two potent members of Congress, tart-tonged Maury Maverick and Morgan Sanders, who was slated for the eventual chairmanship of the powerful House ways and means committee.

Fourteen infants already had been named for O'Daniel, a political babe-in-arms.

A candidate who receives a majority of all votes cast is nominated in Texas without being required to enter the run-off primary. The result of Saturday's primary was regarded as final in O'Daniel's case, since the Democratic nomination usually is equivalent to election in this state.

Crushed in the O'Daniel landslide, touched off by liberal old-age pension promises, were an attorney-general, a railroad commissioner and a big city mayor.

This mild radio flour salesman, who mounted a sound truck with a hillbilly band, and struck out after "those professional politicians" long after seasoned foes had started stumping the hinterlands, commented:

"The secret of success in business is ability to co-operate. I think the same principles of business can be applied to government. I have no idea of being a dictator. I expect to get along well with the legislature."

Stout and Irish Paul J. Kilday, 38-year-old San Antonio attorney backed by Mayor C. K. Quin's political machine, whipped Maverick, New Deal mainstay, by 475 votes. Quickly came reports that Maverick would demand an investigation and recount.

O'Daniel and Kilday campaigned on pension issues.

So did 25-year-old Lindley Beckworth, a state representative, to crush Sanders. The youngster shouted promises to work for pension increases; declared his loyalty to President Roosevelt. Trailing him was Smith County Judge Brady Gentry. Two hundred votes back, almost out of runoff contention, was Sanders.

Attorney Ed Gossett, another old-age pension advocate, led Rep. W. D. Macfarlane, who recently got a warm greeting from President Roosevelt in Texas. Gossett almost had the necessary vote for a majority in late, incomplete returns.

Attorney-General William A. McCraw finished a lagging third. In second position was Colonel Ernest C. Thompson, railroad commissioner. Thompson's latest total was 161,933; McCraw's 107,309.

Franco Grabs 23 Key Towns

HENDAYE, France, July 25 (AP)—Spanish Insurgents cleaned up a newly conquered area of 3125 square miles in the far west of Spain today after a swift offensive almost on the opposite side of the nation from the main waterfront on the Mediterranean coast.

The conquered territory is in Estremadura Province, near the Portuguese border, where the government's western salient had been a potential threat against the Insurgents' solid grip on western Spain. Within it are 23 important towns and a population of 400,000.

The five-day campaign was understood to have surprised even Insurgent commanders by its success.

Largest of the captured villages was Caetuera, which had been the seat of the Estremadura provincial government until last week.

Insurgents said the defense troops abandoned supplies of wheat and war materials including 10,000 shells and a fleet of light cars.

Britain Spurns Mexico Proposal

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today refused to make "an unconditional proposal" to Mexico for resumption of diplomatic relations, broken off as a sequel to Mexico's expropriation of United States and British oil properties.

President Cardenas is reported to have said he would have no objection to renewing diplomatic relations if an unconditional proposal to that effect were to be made by the British government.

Vandenberg Sees Roosevelt In 3d Term Bid

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan expressed the opinion today that President Roosevelt would seek a third term.

"I expect him to try," Vandenberg said, "but I do not expect him to succeed."

The statement was contained in a letter which the senator wrote to a Michigan constituent and which was made public by a friend here.

It came in the midst of speculation over third term possibilities.

Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan declared in a speech at Traverse City, Mich., yesterday that "we may have to draft the President for four more years of leadership."

John A. Hamilton, Republican national chairman, asserted last week that WPA Administrator Hopkins actually had launched a third-term movement when he told reporters 90 per cent of those on relief were for the President.

Hopkins' remark has attracted the attention of the Senate campaign expenditures committee.

Committee Chairman Sheppard (D.), Texas, called members to meet this week to consider whether action should be taken on this and other matters, including a complaint by Governor William Langer of North Dakota that relief workers were intimidated during the recent state primary.

Vandenberg, who is in Michigan, wrote that "I may be forgiven for commenting upon the opposition's presidential problem inasmuch as Mr. Farley (Democratic national chairman) has so freely commented upon ours."

CIO Asks 62 1-2c. Basic Steel Pay

WASHINGTON, July 25 (INS)—The CIO today urged the government to fix a 62½-cents-per-hour pay minimum for steel workers, as the department of labor moved to invoke the Walsh-Healey government contracts act to "freeze" wages in the great steel industry.

CIO spokesman Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, testifying before the Walsh-Healey administrative board, demanded that the step be taken to prevent Bethlehem and Republic Steel corporations from "undercutting the prevailing wage."

Favorable Trade Balance for U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (INS)—The United States had a favorable foreign trade balance of $631,074,606 for the first six months of this year, the Commerce Department reported today.

Bomb Kills 39 Arabs in Holy Land

HAIFA, Palestine, July 25 (AP)—A bomb blasted the crowded Arab market place here today for the second time in a month, killing 39 Arabs and wounding between 50 and 60.

The incident was the most costly in the strife between Jews and Arabs which has been sweeping the Holy Land anew since July 5.

It occurred at the same spot where 23 were killed, more than 60 injured July 6 in an explosion and ensuing battle.

Pitcairn Radio Fails in Crisis

NEW YORK, July 25 (INS)—Pitcairn Island's lone radio station went dead during a broadcast today immediately after Chief Magistrate Richard Edgar Christian, in denying rumors of a typhoid epidemic, told how a ship scheduled to stop there had passed by.

"We had sickness, but not typhoid, on the island," the chief magistrate explained before the contact with amateur station W2IXY, operated by Mrs. Dorothy Hall at Springfield, Queens, was terminated abruptly at 4:37 a. m. (Boston time) by either power or mechanical failure.

Christian told of the situation during a two-way short-wave conversation with Miss Emily McCoy of Bridgeport, Conn., his sister-in-law, herself a direct descendant of the bounty mutineers.

The plight of the islanders was accentuated by the fact that the freighter Acaro, which ordinarily would have stopped at Pitcairn yesterday, had not been seen or heard from.

HOLLYWOOD, July 24—Like a bombshell into the Hollywood summer lull, comes Agent Myron Selznick's hat-in-the-ring announcement that he will become a producer himself.

Those of us who know of Myron's battles with the producers, realize this is an open challenge, since he says that he and Ernest Lubitsch and others associated with him in this venture, will pay the stars, writers and directors a percentage of the profits, instead of a regular salary.

The second Selznick unit will be headed by an important feminine star and the announcement of the releasing arrangement is but a matter of days.

The stars Myron controls consists of Carole Lombard, Fredric March, William Powell, Myrna Loy, Loretta Young, Errol Flynn and others. Some of these, of course, are under exclusive contract to other studios and would not be in a position to join in the Selznick producing deal.

CLAIRE'S JOY HUB'S WOE

Big news for Hollywood—but bad news for al uckless Boston swain—will be the flossy wedding at which Movie Beauty Claire Trevor will be the bride, day after tomorrow.

No longer ago than last January, lovely Claire was being reported engaged to an unnamed "Boston boulevardier."

He danced assiduous attendance on blonde Miss Trevor, who was in New York at the time.

RATED ELIGIBLE

And the keyhole columnists ranked him as decidedly eligible, financially and socially.

Not he, however, but Clark Andrews, a radio executive with a successful business background, will go to the altar with Claire on Wednesday, in flower-banked All Saints Church, Hollywood.

QUIET LITTLE BRIDE

Maybe you've forgotten, but Claire Trevor is the girl who said she'd rather stay single and unloved than get married with a splurge.

She's going to say, "I will," day after tomorrow, in the swankiest of church settings.

And a bishop, no less, will perform the service.

ONE SAD SUITOR

But, anyhow, it'll be an impressive occasion.

Hollywood hopes it will even eclipse the Gene Raymond-Jeanette MacDonald wedding.

Everybody will be there and everybody will be gay.

Baba a Princess? No! Declares Dad

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—There is no Princess Baba of Sarawak.

Authority for that statement came today from the angry white Rajah of Sarawak, C. V. Brooke, whose daughter's wedding to Bob Gregory, an English wrestler, has put the little British protectorate on the coast of Borneo and its ruling family in the limelight.

Irked by all the publicity, the rajah explained in a formal letter to newspapers that none of his daughters had a right to the title "Princess."

Besides Baba, another daughter made a marriage that gained much publicity, to Harry Roy, an orchestra leader. A third is the Countess of Inchcape.

Mrs. Bob Gregory, in Hollywood, Calif., where her wrestler husband is fulfilling engagements, recently announced plans to make herself royalty—a ranee—in her own right. She said she and her husband expected soon to sail for the Dutch East Indies so he could buy an island and be rajah.

Sad Garbo Bids Fiance Adieu

STOCKHOLM, July 25 (INS)—Greta Garbo said farewell today to Leopold Stokowski when the orchestra conductor, with whom her name has been linked romantically, left to return to the United States.

Stokowski entrained for Salzburg, Germany, where he will attend the music festival which began yesterday. He plans to return by way of Vienna, Budapest and Paris to Hollywood where he will compose the music for a new Walt Disney film.

Garbo expects to leave soon for Paris.

Hughes on Flying Visit to Hepburn

SAYBROOK, Conn., July 25 (INS)—Howard Hughes, the globe-circling pilot about whose flying abilities the whole world knows everything, but about whose heart interests the whole world knows something less than nothing, took off Saturday from New York headed for—you guessed it: Saybrook, Conn., and Katharine Hepburn.

Inquiries at the Hepburn country home by telephone today met with a stony silence. Miss Hepburn, one was informed, was "not at home."

SHE STOOD ALONE

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Gertrude Faulkner Kaufman was certainly in the spotlight as the Pacific Unitarian School for the Ministry held its annual graduation exercises. She was the only graduate.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., July 25 (AP)—Irked when a property owner kept the two baseballs he recovered from his garden, a boys' team picketed his house.

More Rain Likely

Health Threat Seen, Flood Damage High

More rain was tentatively predicted for tomorrow, as New England, cheered by today's sunshine, toiled to repair widespread and costly damage done by the incessant downpour of the week just past.

The weatherman's gloomy forecast brought keen discouragement to Massachusetts health officials in their move to meet the threat of polluted water supplies.

DISASTER FEARED

At the same time, communities already battling flood conditions feared that another rain storm might mean disaster.

G. Harold Noyes, weather bureau chief at Boston, sounded a pessimistic note. He said:

"There is no clear weather this side of Pennsylvania and central New Jersey.

"Rain may come back here tomorrow, brought by humid winds from the south.

"At Wilmington, N. C., there was a rainfall of 4.5 inches during the 24-hour period ending today."

Today's precautions against possible epidemic were being taken by state and local health departments alike.

More than 20,000 residents of Milford, Hopedale and adjacent communities were boiling all water before using it.

Meantime chemical and microscopic tests were being made to determine if there was danger of typhoid or other disease.

DOCTOR WAITS REPORT

Under emergency powers, given him when Milford was cut off from the outside world by a flood which drove hundreds from their homes, Dr. Francis H. Lally, Milford health department head, said he would order wholesale anti-typhoid inoculations, should such a course seem necessary.

He was hopeful, however, that the Echo lake water supply would prove not seriously polluted.

Most of Milford's flooded-out families were able to return to their homes today.

150 EXTRA MEN ON JOB

The town's street and highway department put 150 extra employes to work, repairing flood damage and pumping out cellars.

The fire department was also busy on cellar-pumping assignments. Arrival of a newly-purchased motor-pumper was expected to expedite the task.

More than 500 employes at the Milford Shoe company factory and the Archer Rubber company factory were idle today, as water in basements crippled power plants.

Railroad service out of Milford to Framingham was resumed today for the first time since Saturday.

WATER RISES AT DEDHAM

The Charles river at Milford was going down today, but its water level was rising at Dedham, as the flood peak passed down stream.

Both were under almost capacity strain.

Eastern avenue, Williams street, Needham street and other Dedham thoroughfares were flooded to depths of a foot or more.

Today's fair weather will "probably" continue tomorrow, the forecasters said cautiously.

Rainfall of the past 24 hours was .46 of an inch, bringing the seven-day total to 7.61 inches and the July total, thus far, to 9.28, not a new record, but well on the way to being one.

Last comparable July was in 1921, when a total of 11.69 inches of rain fell.

Farmers of New England today were glumly appraising damage totalling $2,000,000 and were taking precautions against further loss in the future.

Street and highway loss was heavy, as was damage to homes.

State Public Works Commissioner William F. Callahan said rain and flood damage to highways would amount of $200,000 at least, and a thorough survey might "boost that total considerably."

Districts 3 and 4, including Worcester and Middlesex counties and part of Suffolk county, were hardest hit, Callohan estimated.

He put damage in those sections at $100,000.

The Sudbury river went on a rampage, flooding meadowlands and blocking highways. Six homes in Framingham were abandoned. The Main street and Fenwick street bridges were deluged by the swollen river and closed to traffic.

POST ROAD WASHED OUT

Between the Causeway bridge and the Spring street bridge in Dedham and Needham, the Charles submerged thousands of acres of corn, cabbage and tomatoes, with heavy damage.

In Clinton, more than 30,000,000 gallons of water an hour poured down the spillway at Wachusett Dam, while 30,000 persons watched. The water in the Wachusett reservoir was within four inches of the all-time high mark.

At Topsfield the Ipswich river rose to the record mark set in the spring flood of 1936, flooding 50 cottages there and in Boxford and Middleton.

Peek-a-boo

Guess How Wives Celebrate Today

By PAUL WHELTON

There were feverish activity and nigh excitement, but no dancing in the streets today among the wives of New England as the sun played peek-a-boo with the clouds and drying breezes blew.

Mama had no time for dancing in the streets even if she had felt kittenish, because Mama's high excitement was leavened with a grim purpose and she was up to her hips in this purpose and in wetwash.

Not since a week ago yesterday had she seen the sun, despite vague rumors, but she had seen cloudbursts and she had seen her wash piling up.

WITNESS TELLS ALL

So it was with no little difficulty today that a Mama we will call Mrs. Marion Whelton of 347 Center street, Jamaica Plain, was persuaded to climb out of the pile and give her testimony.

Q—Do you wash every week? A—When there's any decent weather in this climate—or a reasonable facsimile.

Q—I see you have quite a lot of washing this week. A—Could you help seeing?

DON'T SAY RAIN

Q—And that, I take it, is because of the rain? A—Don't SAY that word.

Q—Now let us be calm, Mrs. Whelton; let us view the situation dispassionately. A—Listen, Bud, did you ever view a situation through two weeks' wash?

Q—Well, no, not exactly, but my old man owned a laundry in Walla Walla, Wash. A—Say, I've been in Walla Walla; I was there twice.

Q—Not a bad town? A—I've been all over the west coast; I've been in every state except Florida. It isn't supposed to rain in Florida.

Q—Wait a minute, where were we? A—Oh, we were washing.

Q—Quite! Now, Mrs. Whelton, will you give us some of your experiences with your washing during this rain? A—Well, we were up in New Hampshire and it began to rain.

MORE AND MORE OF IT

Q—Yes? A—The kids changed their clothes and I threw their others in the wash. They changed them again and I threw their others in the wash. They changed again and then they changed into their best and then they put on their bathing suits, and then their second bathing suits and then we said tellwithit and we came home. And it still rained and all the sheets and pillow slips and the rest joined the wash . . .

Q—Yes. A—Did you say your Pa ran a laundry in Walla Walla?

Q—That's right. A—How nice! Now in your next letter home you can tell him his son has been following in his footsteps. Take off your coat.

Watt Not in Race For Governorship

Robert J. Watt, former secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, today announced definitely that he would not be a candidate for governor of Massachusetts.

In a radiogram from Switzerland to A. Frank Reel, chairman of the committee that has been promoting the candidacy of Watt, he stated that he could not be a candidate because of his work on a study of labor conditions in Europe for President Roosevelt.

Senate Bans $10,000,000 Bond Issue

Disregarding organized labor's warning, the Senate today supported the House in refusing Governor Hurley's demand for a $10,000,000 work relief bond issue.

In caucus, however, the Senate Republicans voted to revise the substitute measure, passed by the House, to distribute $5,500,000 of gasoline tax fund money, yet unexpended, to cities and towns for highway work.

The revision would give $500,000 of this money to the State Emergency Public Works Commission for repair of roads damaged last week by the storms.

The amended bill was referred to the Senate ways and means committee and is expected to go before the Senate tomorrow.

It is believed, however, that Governor Hurley will veto the Republican-drafted bill and thus bring the deadlock back to where it was many days ago.

Labor leaders on Saturday, seeking to block passage of the $5,500,000 proposal by the Senate today, warned that labor's memory would not be short at election time.

They favor the Hurley $10,000,000 bond issue.

Boylston Cops Nab Cab Thief Suspect

Boston police were notified today of the arrest in West Boylston of Roland Bradbury, 25, of Wilton street, Allston, who allegedly confessed having stolen a taxicab from Paul Brau of Commonwealth avenue, in Allston last night.

Arraigned in Worcester district court, Bradbury pleaded guilty to larceny of the taxicab, driving without a license and operating without a registration. He was held in $1000 for the grand jury.

New Rail Fare Boost In Effect

Passengers on railroads in New England and the East today began paying fares increased from 2 cents to 2.5 cents a mile.

It was the first day of the new fare schedules, which will be in effect for at least 18 months.

The fare boost is expected to increase the revenue of the railroads affected by approximately $45,000,000.

New coach fares apply in territory as far west as Lake Michigan, Chicago and St. Louis and as far south as Huntington, W. Va., and Norfolk, Va.

In full page newspaper advertisements today, the Boston & Maine Railroad set forth that it is the only New England railroad selling round trip fares, good for three days, at the same low price levels prevailing since fare reductions June 1, 1936.

The higher-fare schedules effective today affect only coach car fares. Commutation and Pullman rates remain on the former levels.

New Flood Peril In Texas Towns

SAN SABA, Tex., July 25 (AP)—Heavy rains brought new flood threats today to the southwest Texas hill country, sending fresh rises down swollen streams that had started to subside.

The San Saba river, which dropped to 31 feet yesterday after reaching a record height of 45 feet Saturday, rose rapidly here this morning after rainfall of 4.4 inches.

With one-third of the town under water, the rain continued. More than 14 inches have fallen since last Tuesday.

Brady and Menard, wool centers which were flooded Saturday, also reported heavy downpours last night.

Newton Nurse Killed in Crash; Week-End Toll 6

Miss Louise McCarthy, 25, of Watertown street, Newton, a Newton Hospital nurse, was killed today when her car left the road at West Bridgewater, Vt., bringing the week-end toll to six dead and 33 injured.

The nurse, according to police, was driving the car, with Walter O'Neil, a White River Junction, Vt., postal employe, as passenger.

O'Neil, who escaped injury, said he thought Miss McCarthy fell asleep at the wheel, police said. She was graduated from the Newton Hospital School for Nurses in 1935.

Frank Washenko, 25, of Ansonia, Ct., drowned when his automobile plunged from the highway into the Naugatuck River in Seymour when it skidded after colliding with another car.

Gerald Blanchette, 18, of Danielson, Ct., was instantly killed when an auto skidded, crashed through a guard rail and dropped 17 feet into the swollen Moosup River in Moosup, Ct.

Two other persons, victims of auto crashes earlier in the week's storm, succumbed to their injuries.

BOY DROWNED

Patrick J. Murphy, 63, of Henry street, Belmont, died at the Cambridge Hospital of injuries received when he was struck by a car as he crossed Belmont street, Belmont, Saturday night. It was Belmont's first motor fatality of the year.

Leon F. N. Baldwin, 67, of Edgewood, R. I., died in Providence of injuries suffered when his car crashed into a stone wall in North Kingston, R. I., during a blinding rainstorm Thursday night.

Assassin Fires At Gov. Winship

lieved to have been fired by a member of the Nationalist party, the group demanding independence for the United States' insular possession.

U. S. OFFICER HURT

The shooting did not interrupt the parade.

The Nationalists had opposed the anniversary celebration and issued a manifesto calling a meeting for tonight to protest against it.

It was in Ponce on Palm Sunday, last year, that Nationalists and police clashed. Twenty-one were killed and more than 100 injured in that clash.

Large crowds had been drawn to Ponce for the occasion. The United States navy's plane carrier Enterprise, the destroyer Shaw, army and marine units were taking part in the festivities.

WINSHIP EX-ARMY MAN

General Winship, who retired from the United States army in 1933, has been governor of Puerto Rico since February 5, 1934. He is 68 years old.

Labor troubles and Nationalist disturbances have spotted almost his entire term. The most serious incident was the slaying of E. Francis Riggs, insular chief of police and former United States army colonel, by two Nationalists at San Juan, February 24, 1936.

might embarass organizations of which he was a member.

One of the biggest gambling layouts in the city, including slot machines of all varieties, is housed in the quarters of a fraternal organization to which the mayor belongs, it was reported today. The mayor considered immediate organization of a vice squad to handle gambling and all other forms of vice.

It was learned that Mayor Childs will recommend formation of the squad to Chief Michael A. Hughes and that it be comparable in size to those in other cities of Newton's population.

Among those mentioned to head the new unit was Captain Nicholas Veducelo.

Fully 80 more policemen are to be questioned by the mayor and his investigators within the next few days, it was learned.

Every form of vice, even the more serious variety uncovered in the Brookline cleanup, is included in the investigation. It is reported that vice lords driven from Brookline have centered their activities in Newton.

Even school children in the exclusive residential sections have been lured into the grip of the gamblers, the mayor was told today by those he questioned.

House to house visits were made by the big booking ring with bets on the horse and on the number pool taken right at home and payoffs made in the same manner.

MODERN TRANSPORTATION

John F. Urges Air Boom Here

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, the port of Boston's most enthusiastic booster, today called on the city and state to join with prominent businessmen and bankers in making Boston a key city in the future scheme of European air transport.

"I aim for new and better things for the port of Boston," the former mayor declared after his arrival home with Mrs. Fitzgerald from a visit with Ambassador and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, their son-in-law and daughter. The couple arrived here on the Cunard liner Carinthia.

At the same time, Fitzgerald delivered a blast at government spending and called on banks which "are bulging with money" to save the city from going into dry rot.

"I believe we should put less emphasis on government jobs, stop pulling money out of the hat and allow industry to make places for men to work at a decent living wage," he said.

"Neither the federal or state government can go on creating work while the banks are loaded with money and are not ready to release it in the necessary channels."

An airplane factory comparable to the largest in the world backed by federal and private funds was included in the plan to win for Boston an important place in the coming field in oceanic air travel.

"The governor and mayor should call important businessmen together right away to plan for Boston's future as far as the airport is concerned," Fitzgerald said.

"Europe is airminded and before long we will see flying boats spanning the Atlantic in 20 hours, carrying passengers at $40 each. Boston should wake up to our future at the East Boston airport. We have one of the finest airports in the world and in nearby Cambridge we have one of the finest engineering schools in the world. We once built great ships. Why can't we build great airplanes?

"I intend to write at once to our Congressional delegation to urge a big plane factory project for Boston and hope that the state, city and big business will be in back of the plan and boost it."

Monkey Still Shines

Lynn's bad-boy monkey defied police from the tree tops again today after a night of boudoir peeping which had nervous and excited residents calling police hourly.

The little animal, which escaped two days ago from a Western avenue zoo, rested today in trees on Boston street. Despite his fast he refused all offers of food and scolded at every attempt of the police and his keeper to lure him to the ground.

A second monkey which figured in the freedom dash returned a few hours later for his regular meals.

Thief's Ruse Nets $136

Induced by a ruse to disclose where he kept his surplus cash, Harold C. Fitzgerald, Dudley street, druggist, today lost $136 to a quick-witted thief.

According to police, a youth entered the store, purchased a 5-cent bottle of tonic and tendered a $10 bill in payment. Fitzgerald, they said, went to a hidden cash box to make the change.

The youth took the bottle outside, droped it on the pavement and re-entered for another which he said, he would drink in the store.

Fitzgerald served him the second drink, went outside to sweep up the broken glass and returned to find the youth gone and with him $136 in the hidden cash box.

Blast Victim Fights for Life

John Kinnery, 59, of St. Botolph street, Back Bay, fought for life today at City Hospital following a gas stove explosion at the Exchange Lunch Company, a commissary on Atlantic avenue where he is employed as a baker.

The victim was found unconscious, his clothes torn from his body by the blast, after firemen had extinguished a fire which followed the explosion. A dozen windows were blown out and the interior of the bakery wrecked by the blast.

Rites for Midget, Cohan's Pal, Set

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 25 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Herbert Henry Rice, 46-inch midget, who created on the stage many years ago the character of Buster Brown, well-known comic strip figure, and got his start in the theater as an associate of George M. Cohan.

Rice, who died in Chicago last week at the age of 50, was born in East Greenwich, the son of normal parents.

Pershing Recovers, Leaves Hospital

WASHINGTON, July 25 (INS)—General John J. Pershing, whose life was despaired of for weeks when stricken ill at Tucson, Ariz., last February, left Walter Reed Army Hospital here after three months of treatment.

Thin, but erect, the World War commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary forces, who will be 78 September 30, shook hands with the men who had attended him, then walked unaided to an army car and was taken to a hotel.

200,000 O. K. Kelly Name

Filing his papers as a candidate for the Democratic governorship nomination, Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly produced signatures of more than 200,000 supporters today and claimed he was assured of victory.

"The ease with which the signatures were obtained definitely proved me the party's choice," Kelly declared.

"In a five-man contest in the Democratic party, 150,000 votes will win.

"Of the 200,000 voters who signed my papers, more than 40,000 were Republicans and Independents.

"This is a healthy forecast of the tremendous vote I will receive on election day in November.

"The year 1938 will be memorable as showing that a man of moderate financial circumstances can be elected over opposition of wealthy candidates and organized wealth."

Lieut.-Gov. Kelly's papers were received by William N. Hardy, director of the election division of the secretary of state's department.

Kelly said he would not discuss his opponents personally until after the August 5 deadline for withdrawals of candidates.

"I won't know until then who is really in the fight," he said.

Gallagher Files 97,000 Names

Nomination papers bearing 97,000 signatures were filed with the Boston election commissioners today by Owen A. Gallagher, of Dorchester, candidate for the Democratic nomination for district attorney of Suffolk county.

At the same time, Gallagher announced opening of campaign quarters at 18 Oliver street and issued a statement outlining the platform on which he will seek nomination. He said:

"The fact that I have been able to secure 97,000 signatures indicates the general dissatisfaction with an administration at Pemberton square, which might be properly described as 'moribund'.

Political observers noted that Gallagher had chosen the Oliver street address for campaign headquarters, recalling that the successful campaigns of Maurice T. Tobin for mayor, and Thomas A. Flaherty of Charlestown for Congressman were conducted from there.

Aged Gas Man Slain in Maine

WEST GOULDSBORO, Me., July 25—His head battered by a blunt instrument, the body of 68-year-old Frank Crowhurst was found today slumped over the counter of his gasoline station on Route 1, near Ellsworth.

The body was discovered by a man who stopped for gasoline. He notified Sheriff Harold Hodgkins of Ellsworth.

Crowhurst opened the station recently in conjunction with a beer parlor. For 20 years he had operated the Wayside Inn, a summer resort near Ellsworth, retiring a few years ago.

He was last seen alive 7:30 p. m., according to police.

Corrigan Says---

Nation Safe From Bombing

America's Lindbergh of 1938, Douglas Corrigan, who spanned the Atlantic from New York to Dublin in an antiquated $900 flying "crate," discusses herewith the possibility of transatlantic bombing raids in the event of a new world war.

By DOUGLAS CORRIGAN
(As Told to Thomas C. Watson)

(World copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

DUBLIN, July 25—There is no immediate danger of cities in the United States being bombed by potential European enemies and in the same breath I say there is an unlikelihood that European cities can be bombed by American planes.

We still have a long way to go before those awful contingencies become a reality. I am saying this with the experience of the last Atlantic flight vividly in my memory and on the basis of my practical experience in the preparation of planes for long distance flights.

Planes have to be so loaded up with gasoline and every non-essential eliminated to provide adequate reserves of fuel and oil that to load up planes further with heavy bombs might be more dangerous to the fliers than to the inhabitants of the American cities supposedly picked out as targets.

NEED BASES FIRST

Before this possibility of transatlantic bombing could become a probability, European nations would have first of all to establish a base in Ireland and then have a base also either in Canada or Newfoundland for refueling purposes.

From what I know of Ireland I cannot see them allowing any nation to establish themselves on their territory in order to attack America. They wouldn't even allow Britain to establish itself.

There's the southern route but again communications would have to be organized at the Azores and probably some South American station which I think the United States air force and navy could liquidate did it ever get so far.

As for a Pacific attack, the California coast is even safer than the Atlantic seaboard. The only potential enemy there is Japan. Before the United States is vulnerable to Japan, the latter must first of all establish themselves at Wake, Guam, Midway Islands and then at Hawaii.

Even then, it would mean a 2000-mile trip for planes to drop their "eggs" and then they would have to return which would mean altogether about 4000 to 5000 miles of continuous flying.

No engine or fuselage so far experimented with has shown itself capable of such distances carrying heavy bombs in addition to their ordinary fuel, oil, manpower, and food supplies.

NO BOMB ROOM

Take my plane. I am a lightweight and mine was only a one-motored plane which I figure to be the best and most reliable engine in the world although it is over ten years old.

I made my flight with only the smallest margin of oil and gasoline to spare when I reached the airport at Baldonnel, Ireland. Yet I had filled every nook and cranny with gasoline. I could hardly move. I didn't have even a spare ounce of extra room for a bomb or even a machine gun.

Howard Hughes had to have an organization of refilling stations provided months in advance and even he with the most modern plane, four of the most modern engines, and a full crew, didn't have room for even the smallest bomb.

This latest flight across the Atlantic by the British pick-a-back plane proves again the impossibility of bombing America from Europe. They had to start from Foynes, Ireland, which they would have been prevented from doing had they any hostile intentions toward America.

DOUBLE JOURNEY

They had to land in Canada and refuel. When they arrived in New York they had to refuel again before attempting the return journey.

Hostile planes would have had to make a double journey, carry fuel, drop bombs, then return to their base without previously alighting anywhere.

It is impossible and unthinkable. The American people can sleep comfortably in their beds for the next four generations.

Until they find some improvement in the present system of gasoline by regulation and control of the atom or some other invention which could reduce gasoline storage to one fiftieth of its present demands, there'll be no long distance bombing.

By long distance I mean 2000 miles or so, for that means more than a 4000 mile journey. I cannot see any country mad enough to spend and risk a $100,000 plane and four or five valuable lives to do only $10,000 worth of damage.

Holdup, Family Style

After Weston put 16 gallons of gas in a car driven by "a pretty woman," a man alighted, drew a gun and took the money, while a 13-year-old boy yanked the telephone from the wall.

Hurley Acts To Force Redistricting

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Governor Hurley today was placed in a tragetic position to carry out his demands for redistricting of the Commonwealth in time for the fall election.

Francis W. Estey of Malden, only Republican member of the state ballot law commission, died last week. The term of Democratic Thomas P. Glynn of Boston expires August 1.

Through appointments of two who are favorable to his demands, Governor Hurley may gain a favorable decision from that commission on the petition of Charles H. McGlue for a declaration of invalidation of the election unless the representatives, senators and members of the governor's council are elected at large instead of by districts.

McGlue, former chairman of the Democratic state committee, contends that no such elective office can be held after the first Wednesday in January because the state constitution provides for re-apportionment of voters every 10 years.

The commission ruled that it would not make any decision until after August 2.

The re-districting problem, first revealed in the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser, will probably be ironed out in supreme court.

McGlue has announced that he is prepared to appeal any adverse decision and so have those whose candidacies have been singled out as test cases.

Revere Police Hunt Safe Yeggs

Revere police today pushed a search for thieves who blew open a safe in a Broadway building only a block from police headquarters, escaping with $500.

Joseph Clearelli, agent for the insurance firm which was robbed, discovered the broken safe a few minutes after he heard an explosion in the building as he walked past.

HOPE DARE
She Makes "Dixie" Davis Talk

Court Ends Dixie's Visits to Hope Dare

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—The surreptitious visits J. Richard (Dixie) Davis has been paying to the apartment of Hope Dare, red-headed showgirl, came to an abrupt end today when Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora refused to sign another order permitting the disbarred attorney to leave Tombs prison.

Davis is held in default of $75,000 bail on charges of conspiracy in connection with District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's widespread investigation of the policy racket, once controlled by Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer, slain racketeer.

James J. Hines, powerful Tammany district leader, also has been indicted with Davis and others.

The work of an amateur photographer last week disclosed that Davis, guarded by detectives, had been visiting the showgirl's apartment while away from the tombs ostensibly to visit a physician. Miss Dare was arrested with Davis in Philadelphia several months ago.

District Attorney Dewey has declined to affirm or deny reports of Davis' visits, but presumably they were made with his knowledge as detectives stood outside the door of the apartment while Davis was inside.

The order Justice Pecora refused to sign was handed to home at the opening of a hearing on Dewey's application for re-argument on the court's decision to give James J. Hines, Tammany leader, indicted with Davis, a partial bill of particulars.

Pecora's voice was loud as he tossed the paper back to the court clerk:

"I will not sign this order," he said, "unless there is an affidavit submitted with it, showing the necessity of these visits to a doctor."

An associate of Davis' counsel, George Carmody, received the paper from the clerk and pocketed it without a word.

The order permitting Davis to leave the Tombs specified he was to be absent from the prison between 1 and 6 p. m. for medical treatment at the office of Dr. David Granger, in 72nd street. Miss Dare lives in 64th street, a block south of President Roosevelt's house.

The landlord, Paul Cappy, said he was not aware until last Friday who Miss Dare was, and then he asked her and an older woman who was staying with her to find "other headquarters."

Nazi Wives Scored On Jewish Sales

BERLIN, July 25 (INS)—Bargain-hunting Berlin housewives who ignored the boycott to take advantage of midsummer sales at Jewish stores met with wrath of the Nazi newspaper Angriff today.

The paper pointed out that the stores were clearly identified as Jewish, and added:

Oasis Organization

CHICAGO, July 25 (INS)—The accrescent (ever growing) roster of American Beer Sippers was open for membership today with a state charter and a large thirst. Its avowed purpose is to get beer drinkers together and teach people how to drink beer properly.

Members are to be rated by capacity. One starts as a sipper and progressively becomes a snifter snorter, scooper, swizzler and skipper.

Fire Sweeps Indian Resort

SEATTLE, July 25 (AP)—Flames ate rapidly through timber on the Warm Springs Indian reservation in Jefferson County, Oregon, today, but a prediction that the prolonged heat spell was about to end brought a measure of hope to the fire-harried Pacific Northwest.

Marching unchecked before a high wind, the Warm Springs blaze has covered 80,000 acres and destroyed a fourth of the reservation pine timber stand. The big Polk County fire in Oregon, which took one life Friday, was under control. Twenty-six new fires were reported in Douglas County, Oregon. The serious Ryderwood blaze in Cowlitz County, Washington, was still out of control.

SWAN DIVE—The easy grace of Marshall Wayne's descent depends on muscular coordination and cast-iron nerve control. A consistent performer, Wayne clinched top diving honors for the U. S. A. in the last Olympic competition.

JACK-KNIFE—Bronze-sheathed muscles tense in the blue—a thrilling pause aloft—an arrowlike flash into the pool, leaving scarcely a telltale ripple. As one spectator exclaimed: "It's perfect—the water seems to part to let Wayne in!"

INTERMISSION—and a Camel! "Always after a strenuous exhibition, or an exhausting tournament," says champion Marshall Wayne, "I light up a Camel for a very welcome 'lift.' Camels add a lot to my comfort and contentment!"

"Camels agree with me in a lot of ways!"

SAYS MARSHALL WAYNE OLYMPIC PLATFORM DIVING CHAMPION

THEY CERTAINLY ARE, ELNORA, FROM MANY ANGLES. CAMELS NEVER TIRE MY TASTE AND THEY ARE EASY ON MY THROAT TOO. EVEN AFTER STEADY SMOKING, THEY DON'T BOTHER MY NERVES. CAMELS ARE SWELL!

State to Pay Burials of 34 Plane Victims

BOGOTA Colombia July 25 (AP) —The government announced today it would pay the funeral expenses of 34 persons killed at a military review here yesterday when a presidential airplane hurtled into a crowd of spectators.

The state decided also to pay medical expenses of 150 persons injured many of them gravely. There were no new deaths this morning among those injured although it had been feared many would die during the night.

President Alfonso Lopez meanwhile thought he was in the clear of serious injury following a weekend spent visiting various hospitals where the wounded lay accompanied by high officials.

Steps were taken today by the reviewing stand erected by President Alfonso Lopez. President-elect Eduardo Santos, War Minister Pumarejo and other officials, but none was injured.

A wing tip touched a stand occupied by diplomatic corps and the wife of the Japanese charge d'affaires was slightly hurt.

2 Soviet Ships Welcomed Here

Boston Harbor had unexpected visitors as two vessels of the trading marine service of the Soviet navy arrived to take on coal.

The steamers Feodosia and Cantarzan, manned by Russian naval officers and by merchant marine crews were unable to be berthed for coaling at the navy yard in Charlestown and were forced to anchor temporarily off Castle Island.

They were escorted to anchorage by the police boat Argus which, in turn, notified naval authorities here of their arrival.

Rear Admiral Walter Gherard and his staff will go down the harbor later today to extend an official welcome to the Soviet ships.

War on Jobs Fund Chiselers

A state-wide probe against unemployment compensation 'chiselers' is under way, it was revealed today when warrants were issued in Worcester court against two men who allegedly accepted such compensation, although they were working.

The warrants were obtained by Attorneys John Brennan, William Holley and Samuel Weiner, who are conducting the probe for the State Unemployment Compensation Commission.

One warrant is against David L. Hamilton of Barre and charges three counts of larceny and three counts of violating the State Unemployment Compensation Commission regulations.

The second is against Walter S. Wood of Oakham and charges two counts of larceny and two counts of violation of UCC regulations.

Both complaints are returnable in Worcester court next Thursday.

According to the three UCC attorneys, they began their probe into the accused's [illegible] week and with a phone [illegible] out the state.

State Light Rate Probe Sought

Launching of a $1,000,000 probe into Massachusetts power and light rates under a specially created state commission is sought in a resolve filed today with the Senate clerk by Senator J. Francis Casey, Milford Democrat.

The senator said his proposed investigation would provide work for many white-collared workers and demanded it could be financed from funds raised by the state gasoline tax.

"The commission," said the resolve, "shall inquire particularly into the statement of Congressman Rankin, Mississippi, in the Congressional Record of May 23, to the effect that Massachusetts is paying $46,000,000 annually in excess of the sum paid for power and light, comparatively, by the Tennessee Valley Authority, by Tacoma, Wash., and by Ontario, Canada."

Resume Hearing In Maytag Labor

NEWTON, Ia., July 25 (AP)—Apparently despairing of an early settlement in the Maytag Washing Machine Company strike, National Labor Relations Board officials planned to resume their hearing today into charges that the firm engaged in unfair labor practices.

Hearing on the charges, brought by the Maytag CIO union, was postponed last week when principals in the case indicated negotiations for a possible settlement of the controversy were under way.

Prague Rushes Draft of Pact

PRAHA, July 25 (AP)—All government departments worked on details of the Czechoslovak government's draft for the nationalities statute tonight in a rush to get it completed.

Premier Milan Hodza was confident he would submit the completed draft tomorrow to leaders of the Nazi-supported Sudeten German minority which has been demanding autonomy.

He even was optimistic that the Sudeten Germans would be surprised at the liberality of the government's proposals, authoritative sources said.

Hodza disclosed he intended to submit the completed draft to the Sudeten Germans' [illegible] and to the Hungarian and Polish minorities on the following days.

Kennedy London Host To Corrigan

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, July 25 (INS)—Behind another pilot and in an ordinary commercial airplane, Douglas Corrigan arrived at Croyden airport today for his first visit to England quite unlike a conquering hero.

Because of Corrigan's last-minute decision to fly here from Dublin there was no reception for him at the busy airport, and no crowd save a handful of airport officials, mechanics, newspaper men, and cameramen.

FIRST PASSENGER RIDE

The only official greeter was [illegible] Ambassador [illegible] Kennedy's private secretary, who was sent to meet the [illegible] Corrigan in an ordinary car to keep a luncheon appointment with Kennedy.

"You know, this is my first ride as a passenger in a civil plane," said Corrigan to the International News Service correspondent who accompanied him to Dublin [illegible]

Nab Cordello In Revere Graft Probe

Sought for weeks since he was indicted by the Essex Robinson grand jury which probed Revere graft and gambling, George J. "Lefty" Cordello, 42 of Cannon, was arrested today.

He was arraigned in Suffolk superior court where he was held in $500 each on two counts charging conspiracy to maintain a gambling nuisance.

He pleaded not guilty.

Of the more than two score defendants indicted by the Essex Robinson jury, 11 have pleaded guilty today.

Cordello, known here and by the aliases Lefty Shasty and "Joe," was picked up in Chelsea by State Police sergeants Theodore Johnson and Ray L. Ford, assisted by Patrolman Ed. [illegible] of Revere.

Special Assistant Attorney General Garrett H. [illegible] prosecuted the state's case against Cordello and the latter was arraigned before Judge Walford D. Gray.

Europe Now Fears

Hitler-Czech War in August

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Germany may move against Czechoslovakia again in the autumn of this year, H. R. Knickerbocker, noted foreign correspondent of International News Service, reveals in the first of a series of six articles dealing with the new threat of war in Europe.)

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(© 1938)

PRAGUE, July 25—After the harvest this autumn will come a fresh German move against Czechoslovakia, perhaps. Some Czechs expect it in August. After the end of the Spanish Civil War with a Franco victory, will come a German offensive upon Czechoslovakia, probably.

These are the two principal forecasts current in Europe today.

The first is based upon the natural time of completion of Hitler's war machine, the time when the German army will be fully trained and the Reich will have enough [illegible] to make Chamberlain to back down once more. Even though Hitler does not want war he believes he can safely risk the threat of it again.

Assuming Hitler Germany might make an attack on Czechoslovakia a world [illegible] to wreck it by threats to prevent the German harvest. Were the harvest and the German reservists ready for service.

The second forecast is based upon the calculation that after Franco wins, Fascist Spain will become such a threat to France that she will not dare to come to the aid of Czechoslovakia.

This is not because of the land frontier. It would take only a few divisions of French troops to guard the only two militarily negotiable passes across the Pyrenees at Hendaye and Perpignan.

FRANCO HOLDS BALANCE

But German bombers from airbases in Spain could threaten Marseilles and all the French industrial centers of the south, especially the munitions works where the French have transferred from the north. To save them from German attack [illegible]

Likewise German airplanes and submarines in bases in Spain could interfere with the transfer from Africa of French native troops, about one-third of the entire strength of her army.

The weight of France's support for Germany would not be absolutely very great but it is maintained that it would be just sufficient to turn the balance against French help for Czechoslovakia.

If it could be shown that not only war but defeat for France might come out of French defense of Czechoslovakia the French government might hesitate to fulfill its treaty.

If France does not fulfill her treaty with Czechoslovakia, Russia is not obliged to fulfill hers since the Russo-Czechoslovak agreement provides that Russia must help Czechoslovakia only if France does so first.

Within France Léon Blum might take no decisive stand. Were he to [illegible] Communists would [illegible] Czechoslovakia. If France [illegible] it would mean [illegible] Czechoslovakia [illegible] and all the Balkans, meaning German dominion of Europe.

ARBITRARY ASSUMPTIONS

Here however are two arbitrary assumptions. The first is that a victorious Franco Spain will become a puppet state of Fascist Italy. The second is that Czechoslovakia would not fight to defend herself unless she had the treaty guarantee from France.

Anthony Eden, late foreign minister of Great Britain, and Winston Churchill, real leader of the opposition in England, believe there is grave danger that Franco Spain would actively support Germany and Italy. For this reason they advocate an immediate stand against the dictatorship powers.

They would like to see Britain and France give Czechoslovakia such guarantees that Hitler would never attempt violence against her.

And they would like to see Britain and France give government Spain enough support to prevent a Franco victory, bring about at least a deadlock and a compromise peace which would exclude the possibility of Spain helping Germany to cripple France.

British Plan Nazi 'State'

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
[illegible]

[illegible] an autonomous Sudeten German province or state the military security of which would be guaranteed by both Czechoslovakia and Germany within the framework of a four-power agreement was the bold compromise plan British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was working out today.

The French government is prepared to support the British scheme if and when the Czech-Sudeten talks fail. And failure of the negotiations, scheduled to begin this week between Czechoslovak Premier Milan Hodza and the Sudeten Nazi leader, Konrad Henlein, is generally expected.

Chancellor Hitler also was rounded out on the British proposal by Chamberlain.

TOO FAT?
MANY BOSTON WOMEN
Reporting Losses of 2½ lbs. Per Week by Slender-izing

Can you imagine eating 20 meals a day & still losing 2½ pounds or more of excess fat a week? Well, amazing Slender-izing has helped many women all over Greater Boston to do just that! Many women who have followed the Slender-izing Method have lost as much as 3, 5, 7½ lbs. in a week! Others have lost as much as 10 lbs. in 2 weeks! Many of the benefits of Slender-izing is that you will be losing fat—not muscle. As you have to do is take Slender-izing tablets and follow the Slender-izing Diet. With an abundance of the minerals your body needs at every meal and then you remain for a week to see if you like the results of Slender-izing. You will find the safe, open formula for Slender-izing Tablets inside every package. Present it to your doctor for his approval. Slender-izing Tablets positively do not contain [illegible] to reduce. Slender-izing is a Scientific Method of Reducing in which you lose fat—not muscle. Slender-izing Tablets

Catholics Flock to Sacred Hill

PESKDALE, July 25 Hundreds of Catholic pilgrims from all over the East poured into this town today for devotion at the stone white church on St Anne's Hill, the most famous religious shrine in New England

They and hundreds of others who arrived yesterday and observed the Feast of St Anne tomorrow, said it is expected their numbers will reach 75,000 during the week

Among them were scores who registered hearings at the shrine in years gone by The season will reach a climax with a huge pilgrimage on Sunday afternoon

Several hundred worshipers crowded into the 44 rows of pews for last services in preparation for the day St Anne and St Patrick combine the Rev Mathieu Dupont O P of Fall River called upon the eighth and the Ten Commandments during the week as well as on Sunday.

Jealous? The Pen Tells

Send me your personal analysis of my handwriting.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

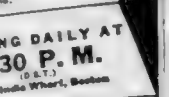
CITY _____ STATE _____

A large self-addressed stamped envelope (your own writing), must be enclosed.

By HELEN PAYNE

Jealousy is rather a complicated weakness. When signs of imagination are shown in handwriting there is often jealousy also, because jealousy is largely based upon imagination and exaggerated ideas.

Loops will be longer above the line of writing than below. Selfishness is also another side to the triangle of traits that produce jealousy, along with obstinacy and some impulse. The following specimen of writing is an example of a jealous person.



When the writing has a downward slant, showing a depressed mind, there is often jealousy that can be very cruel and unreasoning, because trifles then are magnified so that they seem definite in their exactness, and confirmation of such is easily fostered in a mind that is intellectually weak.

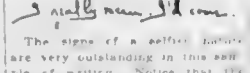
WRITING IS SLANTED

Notice how the bars of the t's are made. The writing is slanted and shaded on the down strokes, making for some secret passion. There is also selfishness, imagination and underhandedness predominate in a nature that would not require a great deal to thoroughly demonstrate the characteristic. There is love of authority, independence and are impulsive, all of the strong traits stem of the letter t.

Selfish people are mostly unfeeling and thoughtless, looking to their own interests first. Their pencils always write a vertical hand, writing with terminals turned back to end over or around some other stem or letter, showing a mind always centered upon personal consideration, comfort and convenience.

WATCH THE HOOKS

Where little hooks are added (see specimen, showing "hooks" of purpose, as they do quite suit that person is stingy also, but they don't own way.



The signs of a selfish nature are very outstanding in this sample of writing. Notice that the terminals of the capital I turn to the left very sharply, other terminals are short and either turn back above or leave the other.

Vanity and susceptibility to flattery are shown in the large "flat" caps. The writing is upright and formal and unfeeling, expressing a lack of genuine sympathy and consideration for others.

The same people who [illegible] others everything are famous for refusing the same [illegible].

Have you have your handwriting analyzed? You may have a frank impersonal analysis of any hand writing, which will not be published in the paper, but sent directly to you. Follow instructions in the attached coupon, enclosing a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

Cambridge Group Demands Projects Probe

Charging that the original estimate for a high school addition has been jumped 100 per cent, the Cambridge Taxpayers' Association today asked federal probe into alleged attempts of Mayor John W. Lyons to "railroad" PWA projects through.

According to Stoughton Bell, chairman of the association, a letter has been sent to Federal PWA Administrator Ickes, urging the investigation and a subsequent report to the taxpayers and the city council.

The city council is being ignored in connection with the projects, Bell charged and although it has seen no plans of the projects the mayor has attempted to force approvals and loan orders through the council.

"Mayor Lyons owes the city council and the people of Cambridge," Bell said, "a complete and immediate explanation of why the estimated cost of the high and Latin school addition has been jumped approximately 100 per cent, from $434,500 to $850,000, after a change in architects.

"He should explain why a $400,000 addition to the Tuberculosis Hospital is necessary. He realizes that three architects have now been engaged on this project, and with each change in architecture the estimated costs have increased, the last increase being from $250,000 to $400,000.

"It is known that approximately $150,000 in architects' fees are involved in the $2,500,000 PWA program for Cambridge."

Steel Output At New High

NEW YORK, July 25 (INS)—The steel industry this week will operate at a new high mark for the year and the best rate since Nov 4, 1937, American Iron and Steel Institute reported today

The Institute placed the production rate at 37 per cent of capacity, gain of 0 5 of a point or 1 6 per cent over the week before The new rate was a continuation of the increase which set in after the low point in the July 4 holiday shutdowns A month ago the industry ran at 24 7 per cent a year ago at 81 3 per cent two years ago at 71 5 per cent in the 1935 week at 42 2 per cent and in the 1934 week at 27 7 per cent

Cautionary Note Is Sounded

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW

"Keep your feet on the ground."

That's the advice James H Rand, jr president of the American Management Association offers right now when as many are rushing to buy stocks after an extensive advance Instead of following the crowd the most popular way he says is to take the conservative action during a period of gradually improved business

And in advising to exercise caution before the market's discounting of a recovery, not business as usually expected, he points out that a period of moderate improvement may last for months Then the end of the boom comes because of some unexpected development

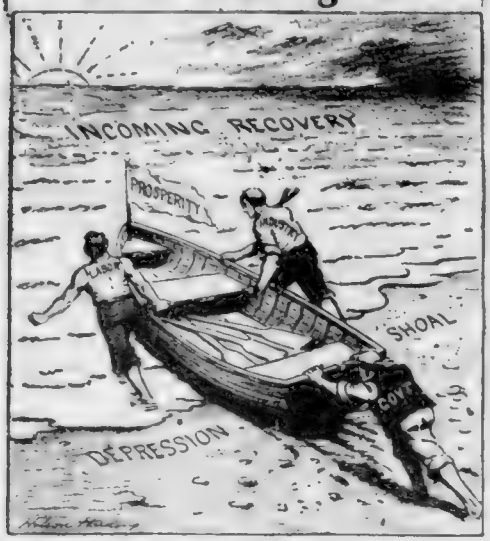
Each Has Rights



The Editor Says:

[illegible] looking in [illegible] of just exactly what it will [illegible] the right of Wall Street to organize banks, railroads and other big enterprises to best working conditions and the largest possible wages.

Labor unions have been formed and function toward this legitimate purpose.

Industry and business recognize that only by maintaining a high standard of living through high wages can they themselves progress and flourish.

But it would be as foolish as to believe that labor should be granted unbounded privileges denied to employers.

No one can be so foolish as to think that the rights of labor should supersede certain Constitutional guarantees, notably the privilege of free speech.

In three recent rulings, the NLRB has decided that it is against the law for an employer to talk against labor unions—even in newspaper interviews—or to distribute anti-union literature among his employes.

THE RULINGS were directed against Henry Ford, who in a newspaper interview openly criticized unions in general. The Labor Board called the interview "intimidation" banned by the Wagner Labor Disputes Act.

Against the Muskin Shoe Company, who allowed an employe to distribute an anti-CIO pamphlet, the Labor Board decided it was against the law.

Against the Mock Judson-Voehringer Company, for publishing a magazine called "Industry And Labor."

The cases are now on appeal. The courts will decide them.

IN THE MEANTIME it were well for every American to pause and deliberate and to decide in his own mind whether the suppression of honest opinion shall become a crime.

Whether the constitutional right of free speech, which implies the privilege of emphatic and vigorous DISSENSION, shall be abridged and destroyed.

And when that ideal is endangered, American labor as well as American industry stands to lose everything.

THE CRAWLING FOE moves on New Hampshire. Million upon millions of army worms descend in compact bodies on whole sections, devouring crops, destroying in a single night many months' work by man and Nature.

Multiplying at a rate that staggers the imagination, insects could in the short space of a few years lay waste this whole planet, dooming the entire human race to starvation.

This is a challenge, and one that cannot be ignored. The army worms' progress MUST BE STOPPED in New Hampshire as other invasions by other insects must be stopped elsewhere in the country and world.

BY GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, July 25.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S Western "Swing around the circle," and his mysterious fishing trip off the coast of Mexico, whatever else results they may have, will force the third term issue to the front as soon as Congress reassembles.

Two things will bring it to a head, first an attempt to place Senate and House, by resolution, on record against any departure from the two-term tradition established by George Washington.

The other thing—and it is almost certain to happen—will be the appearance of some ardent New Dealer in the role of a Jonathan Bourne.

It was Bourne who, in 1908, forced the issue on T. R. by springing his "second consecutive term" idea.

The President will have no such excuse as the Oregon Senator invented to take the harsh edge off the third term question 25 years ago. His candidacy in 1940 would be for a third consecutive term. It would present a problem.

• • •

THERE has always been a [illegible] the White House [illegible] Democratic Presidential Nominating Convention. All those would say nothing on political just happens.

Washington understands very well that the enthusiasm given the third term idea recently by the Cabinet members was not accidental. It was timed to take the edge off of Indiana's pledge to Paul McNutt in 1940. These things do not just happen. They are arranged.

Moreover, there are plenty of impetuous New Dealers who may be relied upon to sharpen the point of the third term issue prematurely. A year ago Governor Elmer Benson of Minnesota went on record as favoring the President for a third lease on the White House.

Any similar incident will serve, next winter, to bring the adoption of a formal resolution against breaking the two-term tradition squarely before Congress for a roll call show down.

• • •

THE FORM of that resolution is already under study, and may be said to be virtually agreed upon. It will be [illegible] and if you will be surprised how many Democrats will vote for it.

• • •

A WORD about the mystery in the Presidential fishing cruise to Magdalena Bay. There he has been visited by representatives of the Mexican government purely socially!

Some interesting questions are pending with Mexico.

And Senate cloakrooms have buzzed for many weeks with whispers of a new move to buy Lower California from Mexico. There may be nothing in these rumors. But the purchase of Lower California would end a troublesome question with Japan on the Pacific Coast.

And it would add a new frontier to the United States. May be nothing in all this, but Washington will speculate and gossip.

The Brighter Side

Saratoga the Magnet For Horse Players

By DAMON RUNYON

OUR Broadway horse players, who must all die broke, are in humble but clean lodgings at Saratoga Springs in up-state New York and our rich and socially conspicuous gentry who follow the races are "in residence" or at the Gideon Putnam Hotel, while Joe Doakes is standing outside that hostelry muttering to himself that he has a notion to write a letter to the Governor about that guy Sweeney never having any rooms for him.

Sweeney is the fellow who runs the Gideon Putnam and is as jovial a boniface as ever bawled out a bellhop. The Gideon Putnam is the newest hotel in Saratoga since our General Gates gave England's General Burgoyne a royal American shellacking. The Gideon Putnam is pitched on the State reservation where the famous Springs and bath houses are located.

The Gideon Putnam is also owned by the State and is leased by Mine Host Sweeney. The idea of the hotel was to provide accommodations convenient to the baths for the spavined and stringhalted who make pilgrimages to "The Spa" to partake of the health giving waters.

It fixed up only about a hundred rooms and it is said these rooms are generally all reserved up to the end of the racing August for the August of the following year as soon as [illegible] Out Joe Doakes appears at the hotel desk and reaches for a pen. Landlord Sweeney has to shake his head and say regretfully "No rooms."

Damon Runyon

NOW it is only human nature that the place that is tough to get into is the very place a fellow is most anxious to wedge in and right away Joe Doakes starts figuring that the Gideon Putnam not having any room, is a plot against him and that is when he considers writing to the governor.

We have heard more beefing about not being able to get into the Gideon Putnam than about an odds-on favorite running out of the money and we think it must be because fellows learn of the [illegible] that goes on there and if it is like we hear you cannot really blame them much.

We have never been inside the portals of the Gideon Putnam and [illegible] never will be inside them, but a chap was telling us the lay about the folder they hand out there with [illegible] and we had to have [illegible] and get a lot of [illegible] to spell the [illegible] and [illegible] back to us.

"I [illegible] for the [illegible] Saratoga [illegible] even if they [illegible] Some [illegible] and really comfortable [illegible] will follow the races [illegible] Saratoga who [illegible] considerable expense in taxes and in [illegible] the year around, for the month of racing.

Others, including some not rich or socially conspicuous, rent houses from the freebooters of Saratoga Springs at anywhere from $500 to $3,000 for the 30 days depending on the house.

YOU do not see much change in the Saratoga August colony from year to year, though this year a number of movie folks from Hollywood are reported coming some of them to buy horses.

One Word Led to Another

That was splendid advice and might have worked if some selfish bosses hadn't insisted on remaining bachelors.

HOWEVER, the graduated geniuses married all the bosses' daughters and lived happily ever after getting divorces.

NOW BOB delivered the valedictorian ultimatum to the stampeding jitter-bugs of Rhode Island State. This is the predated class of 1938 and way stations.

"YOUR MOST secure and profitable career," said Bob in well-modulated patriotism, "will be on the public payroll supported by the rest of the population."

THERE'S MORE than one way to taxidermize a cat. And Bob is hep to them all. He tries to bring out the best in a student with a bit of applied psychology.

IF BOB is right a boy will have to go to Williams, Princeton, and Andover in order to earn his varsity WPA.

THAT'S a future as bright as Christmas trees in a forest fire. The only thing the WPA missed doing last year was a winter cruise to the Caribbean.

BOB HAS struck a new note on the one-string comracker. Since time immaterial deans have been giving graduates good advice. Which they never followed. That's bad.

BOB GIVES them a new kind of advice. Which they never follow. That's good.

Girl About Town

WHEN Prince Bertil, son of the crown Prince of Sweden, dined at the Ritz while in Boston, recently, he showed a slight idiosyncracy which was either an indication of his royal rank, or just a Swedish custom.

When he took a second helping of lobster he asked for a clean plate and when he took a second cup of coffee he asked for a clean cup.

Ann Marsters

Another story about the Prince concerns the gold cigarette case he carries. He likes to show it to someone and to ask who gave it to him. The clues are engraved on the case—a lion a crown, and the initials H. S. The answer is Haille Selassie.

THE LOCAL "Jitterbugs" club, which we mentioned a few columns ago, has now reached a membership of over 100—and a new goal of 5000 members has been set for the first of the year.

With such a number, the swing enthusiasts figure they can hire the best bands and a suitable hall, with only a small contribution from each member. If you're whackie about swing, and would like to join, get in touch with young Nat Shleman, 78 Hutchings street, Roxbury.

The dawn it is a lovely sight,
So tender-blue and timid white;
A flower upon the eastern steep.
That blossoms while I soundly sleep.
I am afraid to stir or wake,
Lest, with the shock, the dawn should break,
And so, I sleep through many an hour,
Rather than hurt so frail a flower.

EACH YEAR about this time New England's "back-to-the-earth" authoress Gladys Hasty Carroll, puts on a production of her famous book "As the Earth Turns."

The play, which Miss Carroll herself adapted from the novel is presented outdoors on the Hasty Farm in South Poland. Maine actors are made up of local talent, which appears every year.

This year's performances will take place Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

New York Cavalcade

by Louis Sobol

TOWN HALL on 43rd street, to my mind, is the nearest thing we have in Manhattan to the good old rural meeting house. An unpretentious three-story structure it differs from its pastoral kin in that its destinies are guided by a board of lady's weather prophets. For years it has offered hope to the musical's ambitious a recital at Town Hall serving as the springboard to scores of our hopeful soprano, baritones, violinists and pianists.

THERE IS NOTHING stuffish about Town Hall. Anyone with the price may rent the place for an afternoon or evening, in which respect it is much like the less artistic Madison Square Garden. So it is that nothing may find a lecture droning through the hot afternoon may witness a dance recital and night may resound with the vocal calisthenics of a glee club. For years the League for Political Education, a non-partisan body of earnest ladies and gentlemen has used the premises for its meeting lectures.

TOWN HALL on Thursday dawns cold for Fascists and Communists have held sessions on the same day and Atheists and Health Nuts cults have pitched their tents from the podium within several hours of each other. And once a week in the Fall and Winter the doors are flung open for a typical old time town meeting during which the audience is permitted to hiss, boo and heckle speakers at will. Not more than a year ago the wife of the President braved verbal barbs from the floor and submitted good-naturedly to a ribbing of her husband's political philosophy.

THERE IS no record of any violence during all the years of Town Hall's existence although there was something of a feminine panic when Emil Coue appeared to preach his "Every Day in Every Way," etc. philosophy. It was merely because five thousand devotees endeavored to crowd into the 1200 seats. Police were summoned—but no heads broken and it turned out all right. And although Heifetz, Menuhin, Kreisler and Flagstad have been Town Hall attractions, Dr. Coue still boasts the house record.

TOWN HALL'S two pianos, which have responded to the touch of musical geniuses from Paderewski to Horowitz, are tuned twice daily, and it is said among the current crop of pianistic virtuosos Harold Bauer wreaks most havoc on the ivories. There is a legend of one nervous young musician who couldn't get the stagehands to set the height of the piano stool properly. They labored over it for minutes without satisfying the artist. Finally one of the men took the stool walked out of the exit with it and returned shortly after. Handing it to the jittery pianist he whispered:

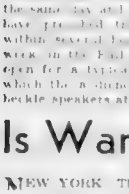
"Here—try this. It's the one Rachmaninoff always uses." There was no further distress and from that moment on Chopin, Handel and Debussy reigned undisturbed.

Is War Likely?

by Hugh S. Johnson

NEW YORK. There is a difference between the military situation in Europe now and the circumstances out of which grew the World War—and on that difference hangs the hope of peace.

Then as now it was a part of the theory of war—even the German out of war—that no nation could stand the drain and destruction of a long modern war. But the German no less dogma was that if a strong nation especially a nation of soldiers — were fully prepared to throw its entire resource of men, money and materials into the first onslaught and its adversary were not there could be no long-drawn war. There would be only overwhelming victory "in six weeks." On that theory Germany thought she could conquer.



General Johnson

She had a right to think so. She had proved that theory twice in the last half of the 19th century—once against Austria and once against France. Her calculations showed that she could do it again in 1914. There is hardly a professional military observer who does not regard it as almost a miracle that she didn't do it again.

NO NATION now has any such relative supremacy of swiftness and strength as Germany had in 1914, as would permit it any such dream of a six-weeks conquest.

Furthermore, all are so nearly bankrupt that the slim chance of victory carries with it no glittering prize of tremendous indemnity and rich spoil of war. On that fact rests the hope of peace.

The danger of war remains now as in 1914—in the superior strength of any swaggering bully. But it exists, nevertheless and I guess it of the very race for armament that must lose peace-preserving equality of strength.

It was absolutely necessary for Hitler and probably for Mussolini if they were to get their personal ambitions to even two weeks' futures far beyond their limits of success.

Both bankrupt they live completely on an artificially inflated economy both so thin and so expanded as to be in constant peril of explosion and collapse. Every advance in armament by sounder nations, such as England requires them to increase their personal danger of disaster.

TO HITLER, Germany is Hitler her hope and her ambition are his hope and his ambition, and so, to a lesser extent, is Italy to Mussolini. If the time ever came when either of these megalomaniacs saw what he thought was a certainty of personal destruction through economic collapse and there remained the thinnest chance of salvation through sudden war, it is hard to believe that he would not grasp at the fatal straw of war.

DONALDA BARRY thinks it would be one grand idea . . . and sends us a few test questions, guaranteed to start crockery-throwing contests in the happiest homes. Suppose:

"IF YOU'RE A MAN—

"Does your wife go around straightening pictures, telling you what to wear, what to eat, when to wear rubbers, whom to associate with? Does she throw away your 'old' comfortable slippers and substitute new ones and sell your nice old lounging robe to the junk man and buy you a 'nice, bright new one'?

"IF YOU'RE A WOMAN—

"Does your husband brag about whom he could have married before he met you? Does he insist on staying out several nights a week 'with the boys'? Does he stretch his neck at every pretty face and extend little niceties to other women but forbid you to smoke although he thinks it's cute when other woman do it?"

"Donalda Barry, age 28, Detroit, Mich."

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"I'd like to ask the girls of America to accept a challenge—not from me but from life. I DARE YOU TO STOP PRETENDING . . . TO BE NATURAL AND GIVE NATURE A CHANCE?

"It's all very well to be dainty and make yourself as pretty as you can. BUT WHY THESE EXCESSIVE MAKE UPS . . . THE TORTURE YOU ENDURE WITH HIGH HEELS, THE TIME YOU WASTE CONSTANTLY FUSSING OVER YOURSELVES?

"Why don't you think more about the way you LIVE than the way you LOOK? Life has so much to give to those who will stop posing and pretending and go after the fundamental things—companionship, love, the adventure of building a home and having a family.

"It seems to me that this artificiality is the cause of much of the increase in divorce and mis-mating. The Pretenses are carried on until marriage, and then, when the real self becomes known, the disillusionments and discord begin.

Dorothy Lamour Is No Clara Bow

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, July 25 — Maybe I'm wrong — I often am — but some way I just can't see Dorothy Lamour in any of the roles that made Clara Bow, the flaming red-head, famous.

Adolph Zukor believes that the very languid Dorothy will be good in "Manitan" by Sinclair Lewis, one of little Bow's most important pictures. She made it in 1926 with Ernest Torrence and Percy Marmont and it just doesn't seem right to put a girl with such an opposite personality as La Lamour in the Bow role.

"Manitap" is Louella O. Parsons' technicolor with Frederick Hazlett Brennan working on the script and Fred MacMurray (whose popularity continues at the box-office) co-starring with Miss Lamour.

An entirely new slant on Greta Garbo's character is given by Robert Vignola in an interview sent from him. Greta and Leopold Stokowski were the dinner guests of Marquerite and Alex Wallenberg at their estate just out of Stockholm where Bob is a house guest. He wrote glowingly of Garbo's wit, charm and her interest in the happenings and the room where Queen Christina slept the night before she went to Rome.

One thing Bob didn't mention a whether Garbo is Mrs. Stokowski but stick to my original story that they are married and have been for several months.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: A. C. Blumenthal, or Blume, as his friends know him flew back to New York to get his financial settlement with Peggy Lewis his wife settled. But Peggy had a thing or two of spirit and refused to accept Blume's offer. So now the divorce which is to free him for freedom as the red haired June Lang is up in the air more than ever.

I just learned Saturday that the star with the young eyes and sleek moustache who was seen today out in Garden of Allah is Johnny Downs. He wasn't even asked on the program in the cast of characters but I must record him in my review of the future.

Today Hal Wallis put me Warners had acted on my tip and signed him on a contract. His first screen appearance will be in Dick Powell's coming picture "Hard Luck Players" so take a look at him and see if he hasn't a great comedy face.

Big burly Victor McLaglen who can play those tough guys to hollywood's business has been borrowed by RKO from 20th Century-Fox for "Pacific Liner" an original by Anthony Coldeway and Henry Roberts Symonds. The moment Pandro Berman read the script he visualized another "Informer" the somber drama that won Victor the Academy award and RKO the compliments of all the writing fraternity. He plays the same type of character, only this time the action takes place on a freighter on which cholera breaks out.

Vic is again a harassed soul for he is in command as chief engineer and is anything but heroic. Lew Landers will direct him and the starting date is September, after he finishes "Gunga Din."

A LINE OR TWO: The economy wave has hit every branch of picture making except the story departments, which are still paying exorbitant prices for best sellers. Amusing to hear that $75,000 is the asking price for "House of All Nations," an 800-page novel by Christina Stead, which has so many characters it takes four pages in the back of the book to index them . . . Who says the days of the movie Cinderellas are over? Norman McLeod saw Rose Heather, a pretty little Eastern socialite, dancing at Phil Selznick's and was so impressed with her vivid personality he's just put her under personal contract for pictures. And Miss Heatner was just visiting here with nary a thought of a career.

Snapshots of Hollywood Collected at Random: Damon Runyon reported meeting here for a movie job Carole Lombard and Robert Cobb threw a surprise dinner for the host and guests. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lang. Twelve guests were present who voted he happy social pair and a good time was had by all. Nelson Eddy stopping the pantomime show to sing after song. Fred Astaire entering the Ambassador Sunset Club for a real after-midnight snack at Paris; saw Lee Jack Mitchell very much pushed by the fans following the preview of The Chaser. We always get a thrill as a child as Lionel Barrymore, getting off from filming and showering a little with her boy friend Clark Andrews, a real gesture on the part of John Barrymore and Jack Hayes threw his birthday party on the set for Jane Russell, newest "find" who has worked at R-K-O for 14 years. Bill Powell and Myrna Loy and the whole crowd have had it off going for an hour to get em at the Trocadero. Tyrone Power planning a trip to Mexico City after he finishes his current picture. Mary is leaving the same time. There's a lot to see down there.

But Neighbors Were Disturbed

It was 2:30 this morning, a very unreasonable hour to be waking up neighbors and Jeremiah O'Brien, 35, of Groveland street, Mattapan, didn't have a telephone, and his 26-year-old wife, Mary, was suffering from a sudden attack of illness, so—

Jeremiah pulled a fire alarm box!

Two minutes later five pieces of fire apparatus 19 firemen and two police cruisers with four officers found Jeremiah waiting by the box.

"Where's the fire?" was the first question.

"It's not a fire," explained the husband apologetically. "It's my wife. She's very sick and I haven't got a telephone to call a doctor. I didn't want to disturb the neighbors who have telephones, so I thought you fellows could help me."

The fire men left in a morning mist and a heavy fog often cut off sound. A quiet race to the home of a nearby physician and brought him back to Mrs. O'Brien, who was suffering from chills and a chill when she was rushed comfortably.

But the neighbors got up anyway. They were peering out the windows at all the fuss.

King Neptune Rules Aboard Roosevelt Ship

ABOARD CRUISER HOUSTON in Galapagos Archipelago, July 25 (AP)—The U. S. S. Houston bearing President Roosevelt on his Pacific fishing voyage cruised toward Albemarle Island today as the vessel observed the navy's traditional ceremonies of crossing the equator.

Soon after the Houston left overnight anchorage in Seymour Bay, James Island, for the 100-mile run to Albemarle Island, King Neptune and dignitaries of his royal court boarded the ship. Although the ceremonies usually mean the initiation of pollywogs into the realm of shellbacks, Captain Ellery W. Stone announced that the ceremonies were postponed until today to avoid conflict with shipboard routine.

More than 100 persons, including the regular crew of the ship and many officers, were initiated into the realm of Neptune after arriving at Seymour Island for the ceremonies.

Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, acted as the "royal barber" and shaved the head of Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, President Roosevelt's personal physician, who was chief of the Shellbacks. Those who have crossed the equator before

Captain Guy N. Baker of the Houston welcomed Neptune and ordered his command to the king for the period of the ceremonies.

The Pollywogs, the men who gamble between ranks of Royal Purple, were treated by the Royal Doctor, kissed the Royal Baby and were tossed by the Royal Bears and the mercy of the shellbacks.

Midseason Black

MIDSEASON black is absolutely no relation to the first sheers of summer . . . the gauzy things that have gone to weddings and danced the nights away on Roof or Terrace . . . midseason black is more than mildly prophetic of fall. And it feels more than wonderfully new to wear! It is denser . . . and its claims to fall fashion importance are those presented in these two new frocks (fourteen ninety-five): bulky gold ornaments, front fullness with tube-slim sides to the skirts, continuance of extended shoulders. Left, the chiffon sheer is particularly dense, and the front fullness comes from loose panels. The draped bodice is skewered with a big gold pin. Right, the graduated tiers and fine white organdy accent make this frock very fresh and young. For shopping information, phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, LIBerty 4000, week-days until five, or write her at the Boston American.

Letters Can Divert Friends

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

It's a matter of indebtedness to your sense of personal pride—that's subject of letter writing—and one that's close to my heart, too!

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

As a constant reader of your column, may I call down blessings on your head for trying to improve the letter-writing of the average girl, by offering them books on English, and suggestions on how to write letters that will not find their way into the basket.

About a year ago, during my vacation, I met and fell for a charming girl. She talked all right, and seemed a congenial sort of person. When we parted we decided to correspond. And oh, wowy! such letters. Apparently she'd never heard of pen and ink, and wrote up hill and down dale with a lead pencil that hardly made a mark. And her letters were fatal.

In despair I wrote to her "Dear [illegible] if you must write with a pen [illegible] that leaves no mark put it in your mouth, suck those words and see if a little saliva won't help [illegible]" but she kept right on with her [illegible] writing. And so I stopped her. At the present time I am [illegible] And this is to serve notice on any future [illegible] I may have that she [illegible] at [illegible] a dame on a [illegible] and I've spent [illegible] of [illegible] pencil writing [illegible]

JOHN SMITH.

I think I know how you [illegible] my dear [illegible]

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

This Cream Mask Renews Freshness of Every Skin

By ARLINE GOULD

WHEN a time arrives that you must face things . . . and your complexion has let you down as thoroughly as a mass parachute jump in Moscow . . . when the gal your husband almost married comes back to town a celebrity, with brass bands and glamour and tree orchids on her shoulder . . . when you're about to meet someone who's haunted your dreams for ever so long . . . if your skin is not up to the proper exhilirating pitch . . . place your faith in an entirely unique "lifting" mask cream.

The most reassuring and truly unusual point of this particular mask cream (in a world that has gone slightly mad on the subject) is that it may be used by debutante or dowager, it's so delicate.

• • •

We've grown accustomed to thinking of "lifting" masks as rather drastic things. It's true that many of them are strong medicine.

It's the sort of thing even the most feted beauty of her "yearnut" should have for the low moments when fatigue and lack of sleep show only too plainly. It's for the moment when some sweet friend throws at her, with secret gloating, "You look like a hag!"

Don't ask us why even a forty-five-year-old complexion gets just as much of a line-free lift and glow out of this mild treatment as does the twenty-year-old. We don't know. We've only seen it happen!

Smooth on a generous portion [illegible] when you bathe or when you [illegible] Orange flowers, or just before you [illegible] start your new dawn coiffure. Twenty minutes of prelude to beauty—and then your reward!

To learn the name of this tenderly mild "lifting" cream mask which banishes fatigue and firms the face, freeing it of lines and dullness (for young as well as older skins) phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days until five, or write her at the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BETTY ALDEN

Mary Hastings Off to Coast

By BETTY ALDEN

THOUGH Mary Hastings took a European tour with Peggy Landon, daughter of presidential candidate Alf Landon of Kansas, last summer . . . and today, following in the footsteps of President Roosevelt's political tour to the West Coast is departing on a vacation jaunt across country to California . . . there is no political significance in the trip.

Instead of a series of speaking engagements, Mary's itinerary calls for a series of brief visits at the homes of different girl friends in Kansas City and the far west.

When she went abroad on an organized tour of young people, she naturally became fast friends with her fellow tourists. She exchanged visits with some of the customers last fall and planned to respond to a number of invitations and sample a little of the famous California sunshine last winter. But she became taken with the skiing fad and spent the winter sliding down New England's snow covered hills instead of seeing the Golden Gate, movie stars in person, acquiring a tan on Malibu beach and "doing" California in general.

This afternoon she pulls out of South Station to put a feminine interpretation upon Horace Greely's well known instructions to young men and to have a grand time.

Her first stop is Kansas City, where Ann Hubbard will be her hostess, and from there they will continue the trip west together to visit mutual friends. Santa Cruz and Palo Alto will be on their itinerary, as well as San Francisco, and naturally, like any girl, they will want to stop off at Hollywood to look in at the movie colony.

Mary will not visit Peggy Landon this trip, for Peg is on a cruise to South America, but the latter expects her to stop off and make her a visit here in the fall. Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hastings of Beacon street and Hingham.

Mrs. Wallie Pierce's birthday party at the Casino, Magnolia, Saturday evening didn't seem complete without Mary, but last minute packing prevented her from going down to the North Shore for the occasion. She and Markie are chums and seldom miss a celebration or party in which each is interested.

Many Birthday Congratulations

Dottie Pierce, Markie's sister-in-law, was there with her fiance, Donald McKellar, who came over from Long Island for the week-end, and others offering congratulations to the blonde and vivacious birthday girl were Evelyn Weatherby and her fiance, Dr. Charles Vallendar, Jr., who passed up their usual week-end visit with Charlie's family at Buzzards Bay to do a little North Shore partying.

Ellen Moseley gave a dinner party at the Casino for a visitor from Belfast, Ireland . . . adorable little Angela Patrick, who came over last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, of Lincoln. Bobby Knowles and Peter Allen were also in the party, together with Eavie Lilly, whose black slipper satin gown was a decided contrast to the snowy white worn by both Ellen and Angela (popularly known as Jill).

Relaxing after three weeks' duty as a volunteer worker at Children's Island, off Marblehead, Nancy Tucker dined and danced in a twosome. She's one of the many conscientious Junior Leaguers who manages to crowd plenty of good deeds into her summer days, without giving up too many of the usual enjoyable pastimes.

Ex-Governor and Mrs. Frank M. Allen were also in the Saturday evening throng of dancers as were Mr. and Mrs. James M. Newell, Jr., the John K. Heyls, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Connell and their daughter, Marie, whose partners included many of the popular North Shore swains.

All the girls there are possible candidates for the Casino's popularity contest which gets off to a flying start this week.

Aid Charity

North Shore Society Fair Very Active

DOING THEIR BIT for charity is all in the day's work for this pair of attractive North Shore society lights. Their latest committee work is in preparation for the ball to benefit the North Shore branch of the Boy Scouts, at the Casino, August 5. Mrs. James Parker, 2d (left), is the former Isabel Lawrence, daughter of John Lawrence of Topsfield, and Dorothy Preston is the daughter of Mrs. Harold G. Cutler of Wenham.

Society Awaits Horse Show

The chief social and sporting event on this week's calendar in the Berkshires will be the 12th annual two-day Pittsfield horse show at Holmesdale, Friday and Saturday.

Horse lovers will be entertained at the horse show ball Friday evening at the Pittsfield Country Club, where Miss Mary Perkins will serve as general chairman. Her sister, Miss Louise Robbins, and Mrs. William T. Rice are also on the committee.

Mrs. Nathaniel Bowman of Boston is spending in Stockbridge where she was a winner in the first bridge tournament of the season at Heaton Hall.

Bartons to Live In Cambridge

Joining the large colony of bridal couples setting up housekeeping in Cambridge will be John Semple Barton and his bride, the former Ruth Ophelia Williams, who were married Saturday in West Hartford, Ct.

The bridegroom, a son of Mr. and Bernard G. Barton of Brightwaters, Long Island, is a law student at Harvard, and his bride, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Williams, attended Mt. Vernon Seminary and Pine Manor Junior College. The couple will be at home in Cambridge after September 20.

Parties Precede Newport Ball

Among the many festive parties preceding the lawn ball given in Newport Saturday evening in the treasure Fernanda de Mateis, school, was a luncheon for sixty given by Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cutler of Boston in honor of several out of town guests in Newport for the occasion.

The debutante a granddaughter of U. S. Senator William G. McAdoo, was presented by her mother, Mrs. Francis Taylor at the Taylor villa. It was the season's first debutante party in Newport and attended by the cream of Eastern society.

The driveways were outlined with amber and blue lights and [illegible] in red the trees and [illegible]

'Mike' Loses Chance To Wed Harvard Man

CHAPTER 30

Later as the two drank their coffee and Handsome slept Dr. Christian diagnosed the case as, "Alcoholism, of course. But I wonder if the boy's been starved."

Meanwhile, Mike was saying to herself, "I can't leave him alone now. If I report in sick to the office, they might come here."

Mike's looks belied, for she knew that Bob Kenyon would be in no mood to see how she was.

"I'll get a nurse by the time you want to go to work," Dr. Christian promised.

She and Dr. Christian talked it over. They agreed that Handsome should be in the country. They thought and planned WHERE COULD HE GO TO RECUPERATE?

HANDSOME CONFESSES his misfortune in Maine. "I didn't have a sou," he said. "They arrested me for vagrancy. Kept me in jail for 30 days."

The boy's face was a study in mixed emotions. He looked at Mike, who was trying to be very casual.

"And you knew I was a spendthrift, and ever since you've seen me again you've figured I've wasted my time in Maine. I guess I've been a fool, in Maine. I must have looked a sight to you."

He held out his hand. "I didn't have a sou. They arrested me for vagrancy. Kept me in jail for 30 days."

"I'll have a job. I'll—I'll—be a man. I'll make myself—"

When Mike saw that Handsome was really crying, she felt like crying herself. She got up and walked to the window.

"Don't look at me," Handsome begged.

Mike was a little afraid of Handsome now. He had been a spendthrift, but he had also been a man of courage. Now he was a weakling. Mike was afraid to look at him, for fear he would see her pity.

She went to the window. Handsome began to cry. Mike was afraid to look at him, for fear he would see her pity

Boston After Dark

By JACK CONWAY

JACK CONWAY

NOW that the government has cracked down on those moving picture companies that control their own pictures and also their theater outlets, high pressure Federal attorneys are coming to New England to investigate all possible monopolies . . . As part of the New Deal election program to satisfy the small business man who insists he cannot survive under present conditions.

Members of the Federal intelligence unit who have been in Boston checking up on Edmund J. Brandon, No. 1 candidate for the vacant post of U. S. District Attorney, have reported back to their chief in Washington that the Boston lawyer is thoroughly qualified in every way for the job . . . President Roosevelt will officially announce Brandon's appointment upon his return to Washington.

President Roosevelt is giving serious consideration to the question of naming an American Ambassador to the Vatican . . . With an Ambassador from the Vatican joining the official family in Washington . . . Opposition from certain Southern States is all that is holding up this front page news.

North Shore, South Shore and Cape Cod moving picture houses did capacity business last week during the heavy rains . . . Matinee as well as evening performances reported big business . . . Judge Emil Fuchs has provided a hospital unit to care for Boston firemen and policemen when they try to play baseball at Mayor Tobin's big charity day at Fenway Park next Monday afternoon . . . A first aid station will be established at third base to care for the casualties.

Lefty Grove's Arm Still Mystery

Lefty Grove will remain in Boston while the Red Sox journey west and take treatments for the mysterious ailment that has crippled his famous pitching arm . . . Grove has not attempted to toss a baseball with his left hand since his arm went dead on him and will not know how good the arm is until he tries to throw a baseball . . . Grove has worked out with the Sox players to keep his legs and wind in condition, but has thrown with his right arm . . . Grove hopes to be able to pitch when the Sox play Cleveland and Detroit on the second week of their western invasion . . . Johnny Marcum, another Sox cripple, will work out with Grove each morning at Fenway Park . . . We're rooting for you, Lefty . . . Civil Service Commissioner Tom Green suggests a day for Grove . . . We pass this idea along . . . Grove planned to test his arm today

Vacant Chair in Dinsmore Home

Robert E. Dinsmore's campaign for a seat in the House of Representatives will feature a picture taken in his home and showing a vacant chair . . . It is the chair the candidate is unable to occupy on account of the fact he is serving a sentence in the Charles street jail for contempt of court . . . Dinsmore was a member of the House of Representatives in 1923 and 1924

Chief of Police Bill Fleming, of Wellesley, has had a close check made on all dogs as a result of two-and-a-half year old Naylor Stone, Jr., having one of his ears badly bitten by a Scottie . . . A vandal broke the dam in the salt water pond between North Scituate and Mann Hill beaches and permitted thousands of fish placed in the pond by the State to swim into the ocean . . . State authorities felt the fish would destroy midget insects that made their homes on the pond

Senator David M. Brackman announces he is a candidate for re-election . . . Attorney James Brennan, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, has taken the New Deal as his platform . . . Writing in the Massachusetts Law Quarterly, Chief Justice Wilfred Bolster, of the Boston Municipal Court attacks members of the bar who permit Governors to fill vacancies on the bench under the "spoils system" . . . Judge Bolster is in favor of three judges deciding lower court cases . . . He predicts that, in time, there will be one lower court for Boston . . . Judge Bolster, like many prominent members of the bar, believes the door is opened wide for mistakes of judgment when one mind makes the decisions in lower court cases.

Pressure for Campaign Funds

"Good morning," says the voice over the telephone from several days, local campaign headquarters, "won't you send in a contribution for our candidate? . . . State and City contractors and persons seeking political favors say they are being hit harder that Max Schmeling was walloped by Joe Louis by the dough boys in quest of fresh spinach for the Fall fight.

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY — "Flats Fixed Here" — By Brandon Walsh

SEE! I LIKE THE DUTCH PEOPLE AND THE ARTS SMART — 'CAUSE I SAW IN A BOOK THAT IN HOLLAND PEOPLE ALL WEAR WOODEN SHOES
LONG TIME
IF YOU'RE POOR, ALL YOU GOTTA DO IS GET A NICE PIECE OF WOOD AN' A KNIFE — AN' YOU CUT OUT YOURSELF A PAIR OF SHOES
THAT WON'T HARDLY EVER WEAR OUT —
OF COURSE, THEY DON'T LOOK AS NICE AN' NEAT AS LEATHER SHOES — BUT EVEN WHEN THEY'RE OLD THEY DON'T LEAK — AN' WHEN THE SOLES WEAR OUT, YOU JUST GET A LITTLE PIECE OF WOOD AN' LACK IT ON — AN' YOUR SHOES IS GOOD AS NEW LOOK! NOW I'LL BETCHA THAT WILL LAST ALMOST A WEEK IF IT DON'T RAIN — AN' IF IT DON'T RAIN, I CAN GET ANOTHER PIECE OF LUMBER AN' FIX IT AGAIN
WUFF

I SUPPOSE IT WASN'T FAIR... USING MY TRICKS TO BEAT BLOZZ AT TENNIS.
OF COURSE IT WAS! HE KNEW HE COULDN'T PLAY FAIR! FINALLY FORCED YOU INTO THE GAME.
WHAT WAS THE MATTER WITH YOU, BLOZZ? NOBODY EVER BEAT YOU BEFORE.
I DON'T KNOW. I COULDN'T SEE STRAIGHT. THAT BALL HOPPED AROUND LIKE IT WAS CRAZY.
I DON'T KNOW, SLICK, BUT I'LL TEACH HIM NOT TO MONOPOLIZE MY GIRL!
WHO IS THIS MANDRAKE, ANYHOW?
I'M GOING TO SAIL INTO HIM — LIKE THIS!

Red Sox Hope Hinging On Vital Quarter-Hour

TODAY'S LITTLE LESSON DEALS with the value of a few minutes in today's time—15 minutes which may be keys to a whole summer of fun, fortune or failure. Fifteen minutes, to be sure, are but a minescule grain on the shores of Time, a mere pin-whisker on the chin of eternity. But today one short, quarter-hour may decide the city where several millions in tourist funds will be spent next October, the vacation plans of thousands of New England folk, and the pennant aspirations of the Red Sox.

AUSTEN LAKE

How can 15 minutes do all that? It works this way. This is the day when Lefty Grove attempts the first clinical flips with his ailing fin since vascular-catalepsis crept into his left elbow on July 14. This is the day when the illustrious old grandpa of the major leagues cranks up his model-T flipper for its fateful ride. Where to, Lefty? Yonder stretch the green and fruitful valleys of physical fitness. Thither, where the mists swirl and the thunder heads growl, is the horizon of obscurity. Which way, Lefty?

Old Lady With the Ledger

THUS, WITHIN A QUARTER-HOUR FROM the time that Lefty begins his first timid lobs, he will know whether mythical Maw Nature, the unpredictable lady whose indulgence has already prolonged his span past the limits of normal expectancy, will extend his physical credit for another term, or whether she will exact full and final payment now. Once before did Maw Nature, who keeps strict audit on all living things, let Lefty postpone payment. That was in 1934 when he sprouted an agony in his arm which lingered a year and then vanished as mysteriously as it came.

He was 34 then. He is 38 now. Still, Lefty is not 38 in the spend thrift, physical sense that many another vocational athlete is at 38. Baseball has burned [illegible] energies but he has never exacted extra wastage by misuse, [illegible] the multifarious mischiefs known to mankind. His use of cathartic waters is limited to a program [illegible] after pitching, and total abstinence at other times. His tastes in food are simple—he never gluts. Where other ball players gather layers of lard in offseason lust, Lefty whittles his bogie bumps to fuel and muscles over the [illegible] ridges of his Cumberland hills for wild turkey and quail. He goes to bed with the chickens and rises with the moon "coon hunters instinct." He calls this morning wakefulness which prompts him to prowl the hotel lobbies hours before his mates are up.

So Lefty's debt to Nature has been on longer term notes than most.

Nor do I think his black moods and occasional nervous upheavals are on the debit side of Maw Nature's ledger. Lefty simply has less insulation over his nerve-wiring and, if he flares up more violently than types like Joe Cronin who choke back their emotions and thus exhaust more vitality over control than Lefty burns up in his tantrums, he has rid himself of static poisons and is better for their release. Such men are hard on their neighbor's nerves but easier on their own.

Lefty Gets the Boot Twice Daily

NOT EVEN LEFTY'S PHYSICIAN KNOWS what to expect today. Dr. Eddie O'Brien is optimistic and says there are indications of recovery. For two weeks he has been giving Lefty what therapeutic science calls "passive vascular exercise." And for two hours each morning and evening the ailing arm has been sealed in a glass "boot" with pressure being alternated between compression and release.

The glass "boot" dilates and contracts the blood vessels in Lefty's arm and so stimulates the blood flow. For Lefty's trouble has been a paralytic spasm of the vessels retarding circulation and causing weakness in the muscles and numbness in the nerves. Science doesn't know what causes these vascular spasms, which happen rarely. But then science doesn't know what causes Lefty Groves. They happen rarely, too.

John Lewis Prays, Lights Candle For Galento

ORANGE, N. J., July 25 (AP)—A "fight talk" and two blood transfusions gave Tony Galento, No. 1 challenger for the heavyweight boxing crown, new vigor today in his bout with broncho-pneumonia.

"I'll kill that bum," Tony vowed.

Galento's private physician, Dr. Joseph Ross, and three consulting physicians announced early today that Tony's fever was 103.2—a drop of more than two points from yesterday's high of 105.6—and that his general condition was "slightly improved." They said the transfusions had reacted favorably. Additional transfusions were not anticipated at the present time, they said.

JOHN HENRY LEWIS

Meanwhile prayers were offered in churches and homes for his recovery. And prayer candles burned in the living room when John Henry Lewis, world's light heavyweight champion, had the candle lighted in St. Venantius Church after visiting Galento and wishing him well:

From the oxygen tent where he was placed Friday night, Tony replied: "I will. I will."

Lewis was the only visitor yesterday besides Joe Jacobs, Tony's manager. Physicians, watching what at times looked like a losing fight, instructed Jacobs to give Galento a "fight talk" to spur him on.

Jacobs came back to tell how the old sparkle appeared in the fighter's eye when he vowed: "I'll kill that bum," broncho-pneumonia.

Grimm Defends Wrigley

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—If Charlie Grimm, now under contract as a sport's announcer, ever met "front office interference" during his six years as manager of the Chicago Cubs, it was only concerning player deals and then "just to find out how badly I wanted some help."

As for rumors that he wasn't given complete charge of players, "there isn't a bit of truth in them," he declared last night in a nation-wide broadcast (CBS). Grimm was succeeded as manager last Wednesday by Catcher Charles "Gabby" Hartnett.

He said P. K. Wrigley, Cub owner, "tried to oppose some of my ideas about deals just to find out how badly I wanted somebody." Grimm disclosed Tony Lazzeri had been purchased from the New York Yankees with the original idea of having him develop young players on Cubs' farm clubs. But "he still wanted to play ball," Grimm said, "so we took him on as utility man and coach."

Long Wait For Bout Irks Casey

By RINGSIDE

Steve Casey and Dick Shikat will try to settle the question of which is the better wrestler in a finish bout at Fenway Park tomorrow night, if they receive a little encouragement from the weather man.

The big fellows have had an opportunity to do an extra week of training as a result of the frequent postponements, and each says he will be at his best when he enters the ring.

Betting on the bout is at even money. A week ago Casey, as champion, was a 2-to-1 choice, but the odds have now changed.

Shikat has taken the numerous postponements calmly, while Casey has been irritated by the delays. This condition may act in Shikat's favor.

Yvon Robert

B's Limp Home To Face Reds

Yet they deserve a big hand for they have only about 15 men physically fit, and in very few games were they outclassed.

That was particularly true in Pittsburgh where, after winning Saturday, they dropped two on the Sabbath, the first 5-4 in 15 innings and the second 4-2 in six innings.

Jim Turner

They had several beautiful opportunities to win the overtime game but that all-important basehit was never forthcoming in the pinch.

The Bees will be strengthened behind the plate tomorrow by the return of Al Lopez, who has been out for a couple of months.

Snead Adds $1500 to Poke

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Samuel Jackson Snead, who shuffled out of the West Virginia hills and into golf's big-time just 14 months ago, added up his fairway prize money to the respectable total of $20,000 today.

The latest entry in "Slammin'" Sam's bank account was the $1500 he picked up yesterday by winning the $5000 Chicago open golf championship at Olympia Fields.

Tommy Kane

Reports to Bees

Because of the many casualties that have hit the Bees this season, Manager Bob Quinn was forced to call on his Hartford club for assistance.

Manager Eddie Onslow of the Hartford team feels that Tommy Kane, who plays shortstop and second base, is nearly ready for the big show and has ordered Kane to report to the Bees today.

McCoy Should Box In Dressing Room | Charity Day to Feature Sports

By JACK CONWAY

RAY ARCELL, who has been training Al McCoy for his recent bouts, believes the New England heavyweight champion should box three rounds in his dressing room before he enters the ring. Arcell points to the fact McCoy has been on the floor in the early rounds of recent bouts with Bob Pastor and Buddy Knox, but that he later came on to display some fiery boxing.

Mr. Boston

McCoy is a slow starter, and is always cold in the first two or three chapters of a bout.

It was in the second stanza that Andrew Lenglet knocked out McCoy in their bout in Montreal.

Natie Brown had McCoy on the deck a couple of times in the early sessions of their bout at Fenway Park a year ago last summer.

The records show McCoy has never been knocked down after the fifth round.

There may be something to Arcell's thought about having McCoy box three rounds in his dressing room before leaving for the ring. He might then be warmed up sufficiently to withstand his opponent's punches in the early drive.

There is always more danger of a boxer, especially a heavyweight, being knocked out in the first round than in a later session provided he is bolted a good punch on the jaw. Heavyweights when cold are a cinch to tip over.

There was the recent case of Max Schmeling who was knocked cold by Joe Louis' first rush. Schmeling is a notorious slow starter and seldom gets warmed up until after three or four rounds. One cannot take time out to get started when opposed by a two fisted puncher like Louis.

McCoy is back in New York where he is training for his Montreal bout with Harry Thomas that will take place on August 3. Thomas has fought both Schmeling and Louis, and will give McCoy serious opposition.

If Al is to keep pace with the leaders in the heavyweight division, he will have to win over Thomas. Then he will be in line to secure return bouts with Bob Pastor and Buddy Knox who have beaten him.

A Contrast in Temperaments

THE POSTPONEMENTS that have set the world's heavyweight championship wrestling bout between Steve Casey and Dick Shikat back until tomorrow night have given me an excellent opportunity to study the contrasting temperaments of the two grapplers.

Casey, high strung and nervous, has been restless and upset at each postponement. Steve has been anxious to get the bout over with, and has resented the delay.

Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey when boxing acted much like Casey has when a bout has been set back. Dempsey and Sharkey were fiery types and always came up to a big bout in perfect condition. Then when there was the least delay they became as jittery as two-year-olds are when held at the post by the starter.

Casey was confident he could defeat Shikat on the original date set for the match. He told me at the time he would toss the German in straight falls. Steve still believes he will win, but he now talks more about the weather conditions that have delayed the bout than what he expects to do to Shikat.

Shikat is stolid and is lacking in emotion and in imagination. Secretly I believe he has taken personal gratification in the postponements as he believes they have been upsetting to Casey. You may expect to see the German at his best when he enters the ring tomorrow night.

Betting is still even on the bout. If the match had taken place on schedule, Casey would have entered the ring a slight choice, but the postponements have caused many people to conclude Shikat will come through with a victory.

Tom Yawkey's Only Regret

WHEN RAIN caused so many postponements of Red Sox games, Tom Yawkey only had one regret. It was over the fact his club was being deprived of opportunities to better its position in the league standing.

The postponements cost the Sox more than $55,000 in gate receipts, but the money loss didn't concern Yawkey. At heart the Red Sox owner is a baseball fan, and he is more interested in winning ball games than he is in adding additional dollars to his $40,000,000 fortune.

MAYOR TOBIN and Judge Fuchs both believe the great charity day at Fenway Park on next Monday will net $30,000 . . . There will be ball games, boxing, wrestling, track athletics and theatrical entertainment.

Adams to Wrestle Goldberg at Arena

Paul Adams of Georgia, recognized as world's light heavyweight wrestling champion, will return to Boston Wednesday night to meet Ike Goldberg of New York at the Arena. Goldberg has had a series of successful victories, and wishes to top them off with a championship.

In addition, there will be a battle royal in which Man Mountain Taylor, Martin Levi, Bill Dolan and Tony Celli will participate. A newcomer, The Masked Wonder, will appear in a special bout against Dan Cady.

Riggs, Kovacs In Bowl Final

BOBBY RIGGS

Woman Ruled Ineligible for Pro-Amateur

By BILL GRIMES

POLAND SPRINGS, Me., July 25—Ben Roman, professional at Kearsarge Country Club, N. H., entered the second annual northeastern pro-amateur championship with Mrs. E. B. Morrow as his partner.

For years Bessie Fenn, while a pro here, played in amateur-pro tournamente, so when Roman announced he was paired with Mrs. Morrow, Dick Murray, who was handling the entries, thought nothing of it.

In the morning, Mrs. Morrow was 41—45—86 and, although Roman posted an even 80, they had a better ball of 73.

On the front nine Mrs. Morrow helped her partner no less than six strokes. And her par 5 on the long 11th hole was a stroke lower than Roman's best effort.

Because she carries a three handicap, Mrs. Morrow was allowed only two strokes, one of which she used on the 11th.

In the afternoon, Roman carded a 36—36—72, which was only one over par. But despite the fact that the professional shot almost perfect golf, Mrs. Morrow came in at the 12th and 17th and they had a better ball of 70.

The irony of Mrs. Morrow's two fine rounds and the remarkable help she rendered Roman was that Les Cottrell, president of the New England Professional Golfers' Association, ruled she was ineligible to compete.

There isn't any reason why women should be barred from competing in pro-amateur tournaments or championships, just so long as they are "simon pures."

Coast Rivals Both Kids

By WALTER KILEY

The freakiest tennis tournament of all time passes into the limbo of memory on Longwood's indoor covered courts today.

Longwood Bowl Week, a proud competition for close on a half century and recognized as the first major fixture of the Eastern grass court season, concludes this afternoon as it started and wended its entire way on linoleum.

Despite the handicaps of weather, seven-day rain which precluded play on the outdoor greens, in the face of the defaulting of Wilmer Allison, Frankie Parker and other prominent male stars, a grand finale is on the docket.

FIRST TIME IN EAST

Bobby Riggs and Frankie Kovacs are the principals, both California born, both prospective members of this year's United States Davis Cup team.

Riggs, 20 years old, and now a Chicagoan by virtue of his business lleups, rates the favorites role on his experience, his long list of titles, foremost of which is the National clay court championship, and his No. 2 ranking among the country's tennis elect.

However, on the strength of the 18-year-old Kovacs' performances during this, his first appearance in the East, many veteran observers confidently predict the youngster will make his initial Longwood Bowl attempt a winning one.

Kovacs has captivated the Chestnut Hill galleries from the time he made himself known last Monday.

Six feet four inches, darkly handsome and with the ideal temperament both on and off the courts, the boyhood chum of Donald Budge has the necessary qualifications to become a tennis great.

BLASTED HARE

He has it in him to launch himself well on his way when he steps on to today's court.

Those who like Kovacs point to the fact that he won each of his preliminary matches, all five of them, with straight set victories, not one of which was sent into extra games.

His finet performance was reserved for the semi-finals when he literally blasted England's Davis Cupper, Charlie Hare, off the courts.

35,000 to See Hearst Regatta

Special to Boston Evening American

LOS ANGELES, July 25—Midnight oil that is burned before motor oil in these outboard and inboard racing classics is being mixed with perspiration, perplexity and perseverance as plans prepare for the sixth annual Hearst gold trophy regatta.

Recognized as the biggest annual speedboat classic on the Pacific coast, the Hearst regatta undoubtedly will draw the entry of 75 per cent of the pilots in this neighborhood as well as from other parts of California and from other states.

A crowd of 35,000 fans and new records are anticipated.

This year for the first time 151 cubic inch inboards have been given a place on the program.

Mass. Race Fans Wager $36,448,927

Suffolk Leads With $22,215,606

By JACK CONWAY

Massachusetts racing fans wagered $36,448,927 at Suffolk Downs, Agawam, Dighton and Revere dog tracks according to figures released today by the racing commission of the state.

Of this huge sum, Suffolk was tops with a handle of $22,215,606. Agawam, $4,906,610; Bay State Greyhound Association meeting that just ended at Revere handled $6,708,409, while the Bristol County Kennel Club at Dighton handled $2,564,301.

AGAWAM IMPROVES

The revenue derived from racing by the state which includes the usual 3½ per cent take, breakage, license fees and other rake, totaled $1,611,872.75.

Suffolk Downs	$974,773.82
Agawam	229,776.09
Bay State (Revere)	290,673.73
Bristol County (Dighton)	116,649.11
Total	$1,611,872.75

The Agawam track, racing three less days than in 1937, showed a gain in attendance and handle. Suffolk Downs had three additional days of racing and also showed an increase in betting.

DIGHTON FALLS

Of the four tracks running at the same time, which includes horse and dogs, the track at Dighton shows a falling off in both attendance and handle. The Taunton track handled $2,564,301 against $3,-187,486 in 1937. The attendance figures for the first meeting were 230,212 as against 239,796 for 1937.

The Bay State Greyhound Racing Association at Revere handled more money for its meeting but the additional five days had a tendency to bring up the figures. Last year in 40 days of racing, Revere handled $6,612,0.4. This year the handle was $6,708,409.

The breakage at the four tracks, which is eliminated in New Hampshire, totaled $274,272. This is divided between the state and the four tracks.

Suffolk Downs	$169,705
Agawam	60,301
Revere (Dogs)	46,280
Dighton (Dogs)	18,086
Total	$274,372

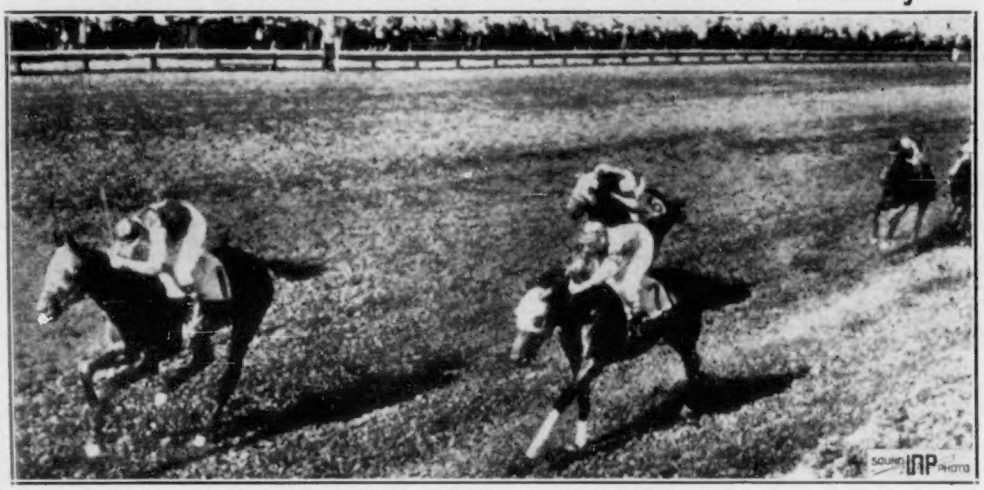
Brother Helps Brother Set Mark

CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP)—Woodsie Castonguay, of Springfield, Mass., claimed a world record today for a 25-mile motorcycle race which he won at North Randall track with a time of 20:16.21.

The former record was 20:41.5 established by Earl Robinson of Detroit in 1936 at Milwaukee.

Frenchy Castonguay, brother of the winner, pushed him all the way at better than 100 miles an hour on the straightway and broadside into the turns, to finish second.

When Sande Horses Were Not So Handy



Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Nedayr, Wayne Wright up, winning $30,000 Arlington Park classic by length from Bull Lea. Third is Cravat, Earl Sande's Stagehand, $100,000 Santa Anita winner, was staggering fourth. His mate, The Chief, is far out of the running. So is Menow, winner of Massachusetts Handicap over War Admiral. Winner's time over slow track was 2:06 1-5.

Steele, Hostak Clash Tomorrow

Lantern-jawed Freddie ended his conditioning weighing 160¼, and expects to dry out a pound or two today. The 22-year-old savage Slav challenger from the neighboring Puget Sound city balanced marker at 159 and plan to weigh in at 158.

BEST BET—SIDE WIND—EIGHTH RACE

FIRST RACE—FUTURITY

FIRST HALF DAILY DOUBLE

SWINGARO, MISS RUTH E., PALAGIN

PP	Dog	Wt.	Owner	Odds
4	Swingroe	61	O. E. Wehlauf	3-1
8	Miss Ruth E.	59	M. J. Gavan	4-1
6	Palagin	61	A. L. Smart	5-1
2	Flake Chord	63	Dan Sullivan	5-1
3	Pal Cotwell	60	Frank Palermo	6-1
5	Mazzie	56½	Art Wilson	6-1
7	Patrol Escort	66	M. T. Dubiel	8-1
1	Gay Stranger	68	G. Lippold, Jr.	8-1

SWINGARO must run true sooner or later and this should be the night. If he errs, MISS RUTH EOU will take it all with PALAGIN showing.

SECOND RACE—FUTURITY

LAST HALF DAILY DOUBLE

BAD OLLIE, LADY DETOUR, MARY MARDERS

1	Bad Ollie	47½	L. M. Kirk'k 5-1
4	Lady Detour	53	O. and S. Ken. 4-1
2	Mary Marders	48	Ben Neal, Jr. 5-1
3	Raz	66½	Hubert Bryant 5-1
5	Dreamer	67	O. Dahlberg 6-1
7	Kid Evans	64	M. T. Dubiel 6-1
6	Tar Black	63	Homer Bagwell 8-1
8	Tiny Parade	66½	E. Rhine 8-1

BAD OLLIE figures best of this band with LADY DETOUR the main threat. If MARY MARDERS come back to her last, she should be in the money.

THIRD RACE—5-16 MILE

WALLY S., MENTAL TEST, JUST VERA

3	Wally S.	48	Homer Bagwell 3-1
7	Mental Test	71	O. Dahlberg 4-1
1	Just Vera	69	Ben Neal, Jr. 5-1
8	Fawn Bleon	59½	Dan Sullivan 5-1
5	Muzzy	72	Tom Baird 6-1
4	Promise Me	46½	G. M. Rogers 8-1
6	Mariah	67	F. B. Stutz 8-1
1	Liquid Fire	56	Cedar P. Ken 8-1

WALLY S. should outbreak this field and score with clear sailing. MENTAL TEST could take it all. JUST VERA owed to be in the money.

FOURTH RACE—FUTURITY

MANDERVILLE, CHANCELLOR CARESS, MUTTON BOY

1	Manderville	62	Fred Palermo 5-1
6	Chancellor C.	70	C. A. Rhodes 4-1
3	Mutton Boy	67	O. and S. Ken. 5-1
4	Helen O.	51	Cedar P. Ken 5-1
7	Pete Bosley	63	A. L. Smart 6-1
2	Miss Market	71	M. Kirk'k 8-1
8	Odeon Boy	69	J. L. Ayotte 8-1
8	Just A Fire II	59	G. H. Rogers 8-1

Off colorful and winter favorite in Florida, MANDERVILLE should score in his local debut. CHANCELLOR CARESS figures close with MUTTON BOY entitled to consideration.

FIFTH RACE—5-16 MILE

BRUISER, MISS DELLA, KIMO

1	Bruiser	63	Cedar P. Ken. 3-1
7	Miss Della	48	F. B. Stutz 4-1
2	Kimo	54	John Highhouse 5-1
4	Thelma II	55	Jess Williams 6-1
5	Tarzan Breeze	69	Fred Palermo 6-1
3	Mister Tickler	60	M. J. Gavan 6-1
6	Snowdie	51	Hubert Bryant 8-1
8	White Tempest	67½	O. Dahlberg 8-1

If BRUISER runs a true race, it should score with the red blanket. MISS O'LL figures nearest with KIMO, a money possibility.

SIXTH RACE—FUTURITY

GLITTERING BAND, MAGIC KEY, RESISTANCE

3	Glittering Band	65	Fred Palermo 5-1
1	Magic Key	68	L. M. Kirk'k 4-1
6	Resistance	73	O. Dahlberg 6-1
2	Jeff Hicks	62	John Highhouse 5-1
7	Chieftain C.	70	C. A. Rhodes 6-1
4	Thady Quirt	61	H. Hall 6-1
5	Morning Music	61	Tom Baird 8-1
8	Kit Traffic	51	F. L. Brunis 8-1

GLITTERING BAND showed marked improvement to win its last and should repeat in this summer. MAGIC KEY will take lots of beating. RESISTANCE could upset.

SEVENTH RACE—5-16 MILE

CROSS TRAFFIC, ANDREW'S HOPE, NOLESS

2	Cross Traffic	66	F. L. Brunis 5-1
7	Andrew's Hope	50	O. and S. Ken 4-1
1	Noless	59	Forbe Spencer 5-1
3	Side Wheeler	61	E. Rhine 5-1
4	Governament Pay	67	L. M. Kirk'k 6-1
5	Beaverstein	48½	F. B. Stutz 6-1
8	Top Traffic	47	Frank Lane 8-1
6	Josephine Glee	50	O. Dahlberg 8-1

CROSS TRAFFIC must move up despite that should repeat its mount win. ANDREW'S HOPE can be bothersome with NOLESS a money possibility.

EIGHTH RACE—FUTURITY

SIDE WIND, MUTTON BROTH, RURAL CRIER

7	Side Wind	72	Jess Williams 5-1
4	Mutton Broth	61	J. L. Ayotte 4-1
3	Rural Crier	70	M. C. Sparks 5-1
5	Cavalcade C.	63	C. A. Rhodes 6-1
1	Traffic Glen	54	Frank Lane 6-1
2	Jerry Hicks	63	John Highhouse 6-1
6	Chinko	74	Paul Boone 8-1
8	Silver Lene	55	G. Lippold, Jr. 8-1

One of the seven box SIDE WIND figures month the best because of its early foot and clear sailing to the turn. MUTTON BROTH, if not bothered, will do the tarring. RURAL CRIER need be figured in the money.

NINTH RACE—5-16 MILE

LITTLE GIANT, GUIDING BAND, JUSTA GO BY

1	Little Giant	75	J. L. Ayotte 3-1
7	Guiding Band	69	Fred Palermo 4-1
2	Justa Go By	70½	Fred Sweet 5-1
3	Asleene	66½	Paul Boone 5-1
4	Perma	66	W. L. Bryant 6-1
8	Guest Artist	61½	M. C. Sparks 6-1
6	Gilby's Gin	64	Dan Sullivan 8-1
5	Lucille Larry	70	G. Lippold, Jr. 8-1

The Ayotte hound figures strongest here. The GUIDING BAND, if he tends to his knifing, could take it all. JUSTA GO BY figures in the money.

TENTH RACE—5-16 MILE

RECORD CLIPPER, BUCK TRAWLER, INEZ

4	Record Clipper	60	Dan Sullivan 3-1
2	Rock Trawler	58½	Pat Conway 4-1
1	Inez	56	Paul Boone 5-1
3	Robert Ripley	66	W. L. Bryant 5-1
7	Rip Terror	53	M. C. Sparks 6-1
8	Smash, Porthos	65	K. Stephenson 6-1
5	Supply Officer	64	F. L. Brunis 8-1
3	Click	62	Forbe Spencer 8-1

Plan New Series Of Auto Races

Phil Mays of Needham, new director of the Northeast Racing Association, announced today that a series of auto races will be staged at Topsfield, Newmarket, N. H., and Keene, N. H.

The first race will be held at Newmarket July 31, with outstanding drivers of New England entered.

George Bouley and Bud Hardt of Waterbury, Ct., Louis Guiliano of Providence, R. I., and Gene Trinque of Mapleville, R. I., are some of the drivers entered.

Bike Fans Fight For Les Adair

COLUMBUS, Ind., July 25 (AP)—Fists flew and men scuffled for nearly an hour in the dust-heavy automobile race track as approximately 1000 angry spectators battled in protest against a Central State Racing Association ruling banning Les Adair, Indianapolis driver, from participation in the 30-lap Hoosier sweepstakes, top event of a local program.

Webster Spicer, a former Columbus high school wrestler, was dragged from his motorcycle and beaten when six riders attempted to disperse the crowd which protested vigorously the ruling.

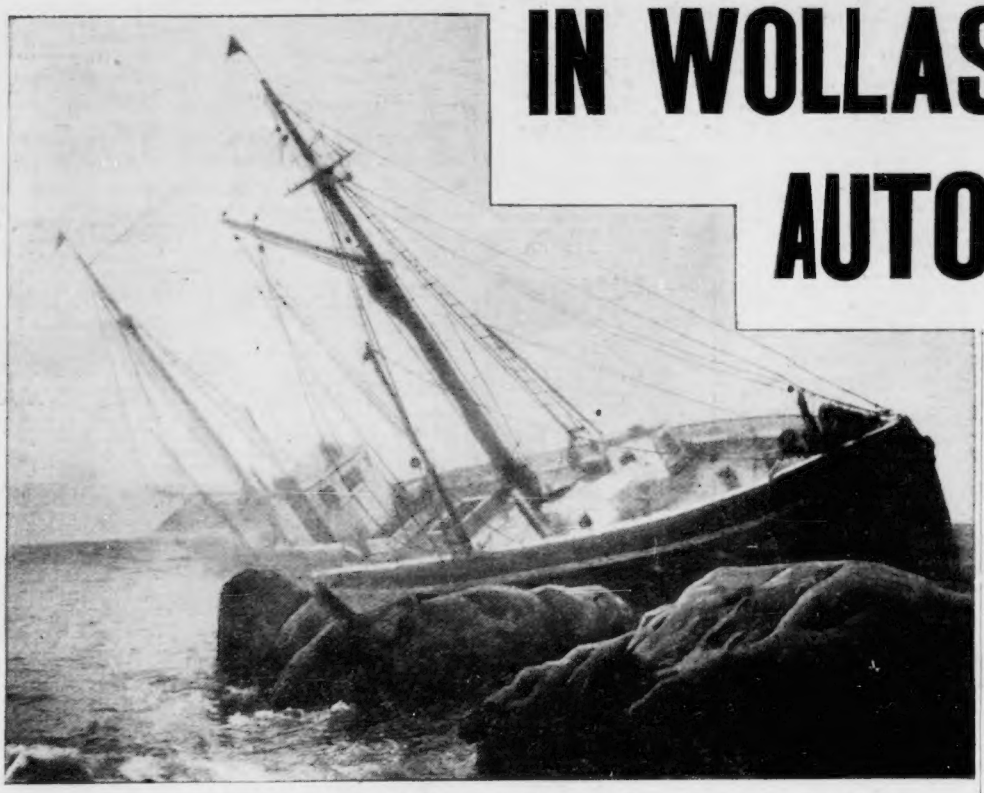
HUMAN TORCH TRAPPED IN WOLLASTON AUTO PIT



Schooner Uncle Sam, Aground Off Gloucester Harbor in Fog, Abandoned as Total Loss

Trapped in a flaming grease pit in his Wollaston garage, Harold Robbins, 28, Newport avenue, Wollaston, was saved from death today by the heroism of his partner.

The partner Ashton Cox, 30, of Arlington street, Wollaston, rolled an automobile off the pit-top and reaching in pulled Robbins clear of the flames.

Robbins, in grave condition, was raced to the Quincy City Hospital. There he was treated for second degree burns of legs, arms, body and face.

Robbins was using a blow-torch on the under side of an automobile when the torch set leaking gasoline aflame.

In a moment the grease-grimed walls and floor of the pit burst into flames.

The blaze spread after Robbins had been pulled out and damaged two other cars parked nearby before it was brought under control.

The garage was located on Beale street.

Mackerel Ship Lost on Rocks

GLOUCESTER, July 25—Grinding up on a reef at Brace's Cove off Gloucester harbor, at midnight in heavy fog the 110-foot schooner Uncle Sam was abandoned today as a total loss.

Captain Sam Scola, also the owner, ordered the catch of 55,000 pounds of mackerel tossed overboard in an attempt to lighten the craft so that she might float off with high tide.

When the fish had been jettisoned, however, it was discovered that almost half the bottom had been ripped away by the rocks.

The vessel, valued at between $8000 and $10,000, is a total loss and carried no insurance.

Doug Accepts Bid to Boston

Mayor Tobin announced today that in response to a cable he sent Corrigan at Dublin a week ago, inviting him here, an answer came today.

"Accept opportunity to visit Boston at earliest possible date. Corrigan," the wire said.

Newton Trails 'Slot' Czars

With "big shot" gamblers running for cover, Mayor Edwin O. Childs today delved deeper into Newton rackets, including slot machine operators in the scope of his gambling investigation.

More than a score of policemen, many of whom allegedly were told to "lay off" bookies and number pool writers, were summoned to the mayor's office for questioning in a gambling ring which stretched its hands into some of the city's wealthiest homes for revenue.

In widening his investigation to include slot machines, Mayor Childs decided to strike out all forms of rackets, even though it
